Wholesale Prices Increase Despite Nixon's Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's first price report since President Nixon's wage-price freeze showed today that wholesale costs of food, industrial raw materials and finished manufactured products rose three-tenths of one per cent in August.

The rise matched the smallest increase in five months but because wholesale food prices did not drop as much as expected for the month, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured the over-all rise at seven-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis—highest in six months.

"The August index is based almost entirely on prices prevailing before the wage-price stabilization action announced by the President on Aug. 15," the bureau said.

The August rise brought the Wholesale Price Index up to 114.9 of its 1967 base of 100, four per cent above a year earlier.

This was the largest annual spread in 16 months.

The index figure means that it cost $114.90 on the average last month for wholesale goods that cost $100 four years ago.

Although wholesale food prices generally declined, egg prices rose more than 23 per cent and fresh fruits and vegetables went up six per cent for the month. These are the main food items that are specifically exempted from the price freeze both at wholesale and retail levels.

The report said that average prices of industrial raw materials rose five-tenths of one per cent, largely because of increases for steel products and lumber and wood products.

U.S. Battle Deaths 19

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 19 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, the highest weekly toll in seven weeks but still maintaining the lowest level of casualties in six years.

Another 97 Americans were wounded, and four died from such nonhostile causes such as accidents and illness.

The South Vietnamese Command reported 269 government troops killed in action and 585 wounded. The two allied commands claimed 1,234 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed.

It was the seventh week in a row that the total of U.S. combat deaths was below 20. Ninety-eight Americans have died in action in that period, a weekly average of 14 compared to an average of 36 for this year and 278 three years ago.

The continuing low level of U.S. casualties reflects the steady withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam and the defensive posture that most of the 219,000 troops still here have moved into, leaving the heavy fighting to the South Vietnamese.

"I could see and hear Charlie—hear his voice to kill everybody. I felt like I was in a dream, half awake and half not awake," Watson said.

He said he and the others in the killing party also had taken LSD.

Latin American Nations Fight Import Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are viewing with some apprehension evidence of Latin American backlash to President Nixon's 10-per-cent surcharge on imports.

Of particular concern to officials here is a meeting of Latin American finance ministers, scheduled to start Friday in Buenos Aires, at which hemispheric nations will attempt to establish a common front on the surcharge issue.

Official estimates show that only 22 per cent of goods imported to the United States from Latin America are affected by the surcharge. But hemispheric diplomats charge it is unfair to apply the surcharge against an area with which the United States has enjoyed a substantial trade surplus for years.

During the first six months of 1971, the surplus was in excess of $350 million, according to official statistics.

In addition, there is a consensus among Latin American diplomats here that the surcharge constitutes a retreat from Nixon administration promises to lower trade barriers to hemispheric products.

A Nixon proposal for generalized trade preferences for the products of developing nations, announced 22 months ago, still has not been introduced in Congress by the administration.

Diplomatic sources say the State Department quietly sought to discourage the meeting of hemispheric finance ministers, which is being carried out under auspices of the Special Commission for Latin American Coordination.

The meeting was proposed by Argentine President Alejandro A. Lanusse, who urged adoption of a common front by Latin American nations in the face of United States policies which "gravely affect" their respective economies.

Thieu Runs For Vote Of Confidence

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu told a nationwide television audience tonight he intends to run as the only candidate in South Vietnam's Oct. 3 presidential election but will step down if he and his policies fail to win a vote of confidence from the people.

"I am responsible to the whole country," Thieu said. "To resign would be the act of an irresponsible man, a deserter trying to avoid his responsibilities."

"Such an act could severely damage the country, leaving the legal and constitutional regime vulnerable to the Communists."

Thieu looked tense, even defiant, as he delivered the 25-minute television address.

"To run or to withdraw is the freedom of each ticket," Thieu said. "But the Oct. 3 election is determined by the constitution and cannot be changed, even if there is only one ticket. There is no legal basis for not organizing the elections."

"I want competition, but there is nothing I can do about it. I must carry out the constitution and legal procedures. 'I see that the coming election will be a referendum. If the turnout next month confirms my confidence I shall remain in the presidency. Otherwise I will not accept another four year term.'"

Thieu did not specify what percentage of the vote would give him the required "vote of confidence," or how that percentage would be determined.

Ohioans Distrust Officeholders?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The general public's growing disenchantment with elected officials has blossomed into full scale cynicism.

That was the reluctant concession made during testimony late Wednesday before the House Select Committee on Legislative Practices on a pair of bills to establish a code of ethics for public officials and employees.

Speaking for the Gilligan administration, Finance Director Harold Hovey told the committee legislation sponsored by Rep. Patrick Sweeney, D-47 Cleveland, and backed by the governor, would not be permitted to die quietly, the common fate of past ethics bills.

"I will call the public's attention to this bill again and again," he warned. "If the bill dies in committee this session, at least the public will know it is dead, will know who killed it, and who was in favor of it."

"Standards are needed by which we can be fairly and uniformly judged, and by which we can guarantee to our citizenry an uncompromised adherence to the public interest at all levels of government," Hovey replied.

The administration measure, extending to all three branches of government, provides for: —Full disclosure of financial assets.

—A list of prohibited conduct aimed at avoiding conflict of interest situations and the abuse of public position for private gain.

Creation of separate ethics committees in each of state government branch to act on complaints and to make judgments.

Key to the administration plan is the bill's financial disclosure provisions. The second measure under committee consideration and sponsored by a list of Republicans headed by Rep. Charles Fry, R-9 Springfield, does not require disclosure.

Fry said the disclosure requirement was not included because he and other sponsors felt "there is a certain measure of privacy to which we, as public officials, are entitled."

Hovey offered three contrary arguments. Full disclosure, he said:

—"Encourages officials to divest themselves of assets that could be considered to present conflict of interest situations."

—"Allows any citizen who feels that a potential conflict of interest situation exists to check to ascertain whether it does."

—"Makes the burden of proof in genuine conflict of interest cases easier to bear."

He noted that over one-half the states have already on the books at least some limited form of ethics legislation.

Committee hearings will continue.

Part Of Henderson Report Read; Death Said Mishaps

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — "At no time were civilians gathered together and killed by Charlie Company," Col. Oran K. Henderson wrote his commanding general five weeks after the My Lai massacre.

The first public quotation from Henderson's April 24, 1968, report was read Wednesday at a court-martial where the former brigade commander faces charges of trying to conceal "the intentional infliction of death or injury upon non-combatants."

Henderson, in the 1½-page report to Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, who commanded the Americal Division, said he arrived at the conclusion after interviewing four officers.

But on the witness stand one of the four, Maj. Charles C.

Calhoun, the operations officer of Task Force Barker, said he had never been questioned by Henderson about the atrocities.

"I possibly could have been queried by Col. Henderson concerning the conduct of the operation," said Calhoun, now assigned at Ft. Monroe, Va. "I don't recall any questions about possible misconduct in the operation."

Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor, the prosecutor, asked, "Do you feel you would presently recall if you were questioned by Col. Henderson if people were gathered together and shot by Charlie Company?" Again Calhoun said he wasn't questioned.

Defense attorney Henry D. Rothblatt objected that Tichenor was trying through questions "to suggest what he can't prove," and nothing further was read from the letter.

In its investigation of the My Lai incident, a House subcommittee said the Henderson report briefly described the action, reported that 20 non-combatants were killed "and concluded that their deaths resulted when they were inadvertently caught in preparatory fire and cross fires."

Numerous witnesses have testified at previous My Lai trials that Charlie Company received no return fire in the March 16, 1968, search and destroy operation. Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was convicted of killing at least 22 civilians.

Of the four officers mentioned in Henderson's letter only Calhoun and Capt. Ernest Medina—Charlie Company's commander—are living. Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, the Task Force commander and Capt. Earl R. Michaels, who commanded another infantry company, died in a helicopter crash three months after My Lai.

Reshuffle Data On Medicare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nationwide Insurance, which handles Medicare payments for Ohio and West Virginia, said today so many claims are being improperly or incompletely filled out it has been forced to start returning them to senders for completion.

Nationwide vice president E. M. Erickson said in the past the company has handled the problem by telephone calls to the physician or health care provider that supplied the service. It required about 600 calls a day on a special telephone system.

"But we have found that use of the telephone alone is not adequate," Erickson said. "Many of those called object to telephone interruptions and the time it takes to supply missing information on the spot."

North Vietnam Fights Flood; Roads, Crops Destroyed

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam has mobilized thousands of troops and civilians to fight the country's worst floods since World War II, Hanoi Radio reported today.

The broadcast made no mention of what effect the overflow of the Red and Thai Binh rivers, in the northern part of the country, might have on supplies and replacements for the Communist forces in South Vietnam. But it said food crops had been destroyed, roads washed out, and transportation and communications disrupted.

Premier Pham Van Dong said military and civilian forces have "in the main triumphed over the flood and warded off a big disaster." North Vietnam now "must concentrate all forces to overcome the consequences of the floods in agriculture and communications and transport," he declared. "All capabilities must be mobilized."

Dong called for increased cultivation of the winter crop in areas not hit by the high water and replanting in the stricken regions.

"On the communications and transport front," he continued, "we must restore the main period of time, and mobilize all forces to make the fullest use of the paramount role of communications and transport in the present conditions of the national economy and the people's life.

"Another extremely urgent task is to give adequate care to the life of the people in the flood-stricken areas as regards food, housing and disease prevention ..."

Dong made no mention of casualties, nor did he give any damage estimates. But he said the flood, which was spawned by monsoon rains, was "even bigger than that of 1945 which was a catastrophe."

THE Ohio High School Athletic Assn. has devised a new computerized football rating system which is explained today in a story written by Herald sports editor Bill McGaffney.

The OHSAA feels the new method will be more accurate than the two wire service football polls, one in which coaches vote and the other in which sportswriters and broadcasters vote.

McGaffney has been named to the reporting board by the OHSAA. His duty is to report the results of the home games played by the four schools in Pickaway County. Scores are not considered, only whether a team wins or loses.

For further details on the new system, turn to today's sports page.

Jobless Claims Show Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Continued reductions in the number of new claimants for unemployment compensation and the number of claimants unemployed one week or more were reported today by the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services.

New claims totaled 11,615 in the week ended Aug. 28 compared to 12,436 the previous week.

The bureau has attributed fluctuations in the claimant situation to the employment situation in the auto industry caused by model change - overs and layoffs in the steel industry.

this is clearly over the line into a worker's personal privacy. The government just doesn't have any business getting inside my head and certainly no business trying to change the way I think," he added.

Executive agency defenders of the program deny it involves formal sensitivity training. But they say the sessions are considered sensitive in the sense that they sometimes touch deeply rooted racial views.

Subcommittee Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., says it is "still not known how extensive it is in the government or the range of techniques being used by various agencies."

Complaints began coming in this year, the subcommittee staff reports, such as the case of Alice D.—not her real name. "What they were trying to impress us with may have been necessary, which I doubt, but the way they said it was filthy," she said.

In describing a lynching, she said, "they discussed the anatomy quite frankly. At this time I asked if this kind of language was really necessary in front of women and unmarried girls. Then I walked out."

Alice's superior replied that he was sorry she did not find such training "to be the worthwhile experience that most of

Special Interest Groups Exert More Pressure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Talk of a fourth interim budget to keep Ohio afloat financially grew stronger Wednesday as a sullen Senate continued its painful debate over how to pay for state services over the next two years.

The issue of taxes for the 1971-73 biennium has occupied center stage at the general assembly for the last six months.

The current biennium began July 1. State expenses for July and August were met by separate, 30-day appropriations.

But the adoption of a $57.7 million interim budget to pay Ohio's bills for only the first ten days of this month prompted claims resolution of the critical tax question was close at hand.

There was less optimism Wednesday. Fierce pressure from special interest groups—more often than not exerted behind closed doors—and soul-searching by lawmakers on the tax issue have slowed the pace of compromise. The effect was apparent.

The lower education portion of the biennial budget, calling for expenditures of some $500 million and the result of weeks of diligent study, earlier in the day had been declared ready to move out of the Senate Education Committee by the Republican leadership. It didn't.

Sen. Oakley Collins, R-18 Ironton, committee chairman, spent the better part of the evening with Ohio Education Association representative John Hall. The meeting was held in the office of Sen. Oliver Ocasak, D-27 Akron, another committee member.

The Senate Finance Committee began to discuss new sets of budget figures. The Ways and Means Committee was still open for tax amendments.

Observed one veteran of countless legislative sessions: "When things are ready to happen, you can feel it, you can see things begin to fall into place. They aren't ready."

Highly placed Statehouse sources have indicated a 20-day appropriation to close out September and give legislators extra time is already in the works.

Finance Department official James Leckrone denied that a directive to formulate another temporary funding bill had been given, but conceded one could be prepared in short order.

The chief obstacle to agreement is, as it was in the House, the tax concept, not the amount of money.

Before the Ways and Means Committee are two plans: One calling for a one to three per cent graduated tax on personal income; the other, a sales tax option increasing the present

Jackie Won't Attend Rites At JFK Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis has cited private and personal reasons for deciding not to attend the formal opening of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The announcement was made Wednesday through a press spokesman in New York for Mrs. Onassis, who was wife of the late president for whom the national cultural center is named.

Now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, she had let it be known months ago that she was planning to attend next Wednesday's official opening, which will feature a "Mass" composed at her request by Leonard Bernstein.

Other members of the Kennedy family are planning to attend Wednesday night's performance.

President and Mrs. Nixon had decided not to attend the opening because they were turning over the presidential box to Mrs. Onassis and did not want to attract attention away from her.

the other 2,000 employees who have attended found it to be."

In another case, say subcommittee sources, the General Services Administration had ordered its employees to submit to touch-and-tell sessions run by sociologists, and described by sponsors as being aimed at learning "self-disclosure, self-awareness and non-possessive caring, risk-taking, trust, acceptance and feedback."

According to a booklet sample turned over to the subcommittee, couples were being asked to look each other in the eye and hold hands while completing such phrases as: "My most frequent daydreams are about ... I am most ashamed of ... interracial dating and/or marriage make me feel ..."

When the subcommittee challenged this, Chairman Robert E. Hampton of the Civil Service Commission said the doctor using this questionnaire did not discuss the technique with officials and promised to eliminate it.

OSU Adopts New Wage Policies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State University said today the university was adopting some wage policies subject to funding by the Ohio General Assembly.

He also noted the confusion existing in application of the wage policies in the government's wage freeze concerning universities.

"However, based upon the interpretations that we have been able to obtain," he said, the school was adopting some salary policies.

Employees who were on the payroll before Aug. 15 will continue to be paid at the rate in effect on that date. Employees on 12-month contracts and who were working at an increased compensation rate before Aug. 15 will continue at that rate.

Employees whose services had been contracted for at an increased compensation level for this current budget year, but who had not provided such service as of Aug. 15 will be compensated at last year's level. This means that nine-month faculty members whose services begin after Aug. 15 will, until the salary freeze is lifted, receive the same compensation for this coming year as during this past year. Promotions in rank and position are exempt from this freeze.

Fawcett said he would continue his efforts to restore what he said were "the modest salary increases which were previously approved by our board at the earliest possible date."

Motorist Fined, Jailed For DWI

William Hardesty, 59, Circleville, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb today.

Hardesty pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. Charles Cassidy, Morris Trailer Court, was fined a total of $100 and costs, and sentenced to 30 days in jail on charges of assault and battery and disturbing the peace.

Cassidy was charged with assault and battery by Paul E. Kennedy and with disturbing the peace by Circleville Policeman Larry Jirles. The judge ordered Cassidy to serve his jail term on weekends and to stay out of area bars.

Ronald Martin, 430 S. Pickaway St., was fined $15 and costs for intoxication and $25 and costs for abusing a police officer.

Wholesale . . .

The prices of consumer finished goods ready to go to retailers rose three-tenths of one per cent, it said.

"The continued upward push in prices of construction materials including lumber and wood products, steel mill products and concrete products caused a nine-tenths of one per cent increase for processed materials, supplies and components," the bureau said.

"Metals and metal products had the greater influence as major advance was registered for steel mill products, non-ferrous metals, containers, hardware and a variety of other metal products," it said.

The rise is over-all metals and metal products was 1.4 per cent, the report said.

Other significant price increases included a five-tenths of one per cent rise for textiles and clothing, a three-tenths rise for fuels and electric power and increases for motor vehicle parts, household appliances, paper, shoes and some rubber products, the report said.

"Sharp declines for grains and chickens caused most of the decrease for farm products. Hogs, oilseeds and fluid milk also were lower," it said.

A decrease in prices of processed foods reflected declines for meats, processed poultry and dairy products, it said.

Gilligan's Austerity Avoided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Urban Affairs is using federal money to side step Gov. John J. Gilligan's austerity program.

While most state departments have cutback personnel and services because of failure of the General Assembly to adopt a permanent budget, the Urban Affairs Department will expand its staff by about 50 per cent soon.

There are now 123 employees in the department and under present reorganization plans, 58 new employees will be added by July 1, 1972. Most of them will be in the department's administration of justice division.

The new employees will cost an additional $700,000 in salaries, a department spokesman estimate almost all of the money will come from federal funds.

Placement of the employees is expected to take place without interference from the Ohio Department of Personnel.

Currently the department receives 94 per cent of its operating funds from federal revenues, including money from the U.S. Departments of Justice, Housing and Urban Development Economic Opportunity and Model Cities.

Nader Claims Government Coverup Of Auto Defects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has accused the federal government of burying its investigations of alleged automobile brake failures, window explosions, engine dislocations and fires.

Nader said his list of 13 problems covering domestic and imported cars produced since 1967 was taken mostly from government files of closed or shelved investigations. He charged government officials considered the defects neither safety-related nor widespread.

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman denied Nader's charges of failures of the standard drum brakes on a wide range of the company's models.

"We are aware of no brake problems in Chrysler products which we have not recalled and fixed," Chrysler said Wednesday. "We have received no communication from the government at all."

Stock List Irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices drifted sideways in sluggish trading today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 0.51 at 899.53.

Advances held a slight lead over the declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

News that Britain had cut its prime lending rate and that wholesale food, raw material and finished manufactured prices rose 0.3 per cent last month had little impact on the market.

Utilities were higher. Oils, electronics, aircrafts, mail order-retail, steels and rubber issues were down. Motors, metals, and rails were mixed.

The Traphagen School of Fashion was founded by Ethel Traphagen.

four cents on the dollar rate to five and one-half cents. Both plans carry a three per cent tax on corporate earnings of less than $25,000, and a six per cent bite above that.

The income tax measure is a scaled down version of the program passed by the House, and is considerable departure from what Gov. John Gilligan asked for in March.

Change to a personal income tax would represent the state's first significant change in Ohio tax law since adoption of the sales tax in 1934. It has a number of opponents, including organized labor.

Estimates suggest the issue would be a toss-up if sent to the floor for a vote now.

Clerk Reports August Work

Sara Dresbach, Clerk of Courts, has released a report of the court's activity over the past month.

In August, the report shows 60 new cases were placed on the dockets: 27 involving marital relations, 25 for civil matters and eight criminal cases.

Only 30 were disposed of during the 31 day period. In 14 domestic relations cases, nine were uncontested and tried before the court while five were dismissed. Twelve civil claims were handled; four tried to court and eight dismissed. All four criminal matters failed to come to trial; the suspects pleading guilty to the charges.

There were no new cases filed in the Court of Appeals, leaving the seven still pending on the docket.

In another case, say subcommittee sources, the General Services Administration had ordered its employees to submit to touch-and-tell sessions run by sociologists, and described by sponsors as being aimed at learning "self-disclosure, self-awareness and non-possessive caring, risk-taking, trust, acceptance and feedback."

According to a booklet sample turned over to the subcommittee, couples were being asked to look each other in the eye and hold hands while completing such phrases as: "My most frequent daydreams are about . . . I am most ashamed of . . . interracial dating and/or marriage make me feel . . ."

When the subcommittee challenged this, Chairman Robert E. Hampton of the Civil Service Commission said the doctor using this questionnaire did not discuss the technique with officials and promised to eliminate it.

OSU Adopts New Wage Policies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State University said today the university was adopting some wage policies subject to funding by the Ohio General Assembly.

He also noted the confusion existing in application of the wage policies in the government's wage freeze concerning universities.

"However, based upon the interpretations that we have been able to obtain," he said, the school was adopting some salary policies.

— Employees who were on the payroll before Aug. 15 will continue to be paid at the rate in effect on that date. Employees on 12-month contracts and who were working at an increased compensation rate before Aug. 15 will continue at that rate.

— Employees whose services had been contracted for at an increased compensation level for this current budget year, but who had not provided such service as of Aug. 15 will be compensated at last year's level. This means that nine-month faculty members whose services begin after Aug. 15 will, until the salary freeze is lifted, receive the same compensation for this coming year as during this past year. Promotions in rank and position are exempt from this freeze.

Fawcett said he would continue his efforts to restore what he said were "the modest salary increases which were previously approved by our board at the earliest possible date."

The prices of consumer finished goods ready to go to retailers rose three-tenths of one per cent, it said.

"The continued upward push in prices of construction materials including lumber and wood products, steel mill products and concrete products caused a nine-tenths of one per cent increase for processed materials, supplies and components," the bureau said.

"Metals and metal products had the greater influence as major advance was registered for steel mill products, non-ferrous metals, containers, hardware and a variety of other metal products," it said.

The rise is over-all metals and metal products was 1.4 per cent, the report said.

Other significant price increases included a five-tenths of one per cent rise for textiles and clothing, a three-tenths rise for fuels and electric power and increases for motor vehicle parts, household appliances, paper, shoes and some rubber products, the report said.

"Sharp declines for grains and chickens caused most of the decrease for farm products. Hogs, oilseeds and fluid milk also were lower," it said.

A decrease in prices of processed foods reflected declines for meats, processed poultry and dairy products, it said.

Gilligan's Austerity Avoided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Urban Affairs is using federal money to side step Gov. John J. Gilligan's austerity program.

While most state departments have cutback personnel and services because of failure of the General Assembly to adopt a permanent budget, the Urban Affairs Department will expand its staff by about 50 per cent soon.

There are now 123 employees in the department and under present reorganization plans, 58 new employees will be added by July 1, 1972. Most of them will be in the department's administration of justice division.

The new employees will cost an additional $700,000 in salaries, a department spokesman estimate almost all of the money will come from federal funds.

Placement of the employees is expected to take place without interference from the Ohio Department of Personnel.

Currently the department receives 94 per cent of its operating funds from federal revenues, including money from the U.S. Departments of Justice, Housing and Urban Development, Economic Opportunity and Model Cities.

The problems Nader contends are safety defects but which he says the government has failed to act on include:

—Poor engine mounts on 1966-1969 Chevrolets which, Nader said, can lead to the throttle sticking open as well as failure of power brakes and steering when the engine lurches forward.

—Alleged failure of Chevrolet Corvair clutch cables leading to loss of control. Nader said General Motors repaired 40,000 clutch cables under warranty.

—Tendency of a plug on quadrajet carburetors in 1966 GM cars to fall out, leading to engine fires.

—Gasoline tank spillage, presenting a fire hazard, which Nader said has been found on Ford LTDs and the 1969-70 Oldsmobile Cutlass.

He also cited a letter telling of a cigarette in the ashtray of a 1971 Chevrolet Vega catching the dash panel on fire; 1967-1970 GM power brakes which, Nader said, GM's own figures show cause a car to take twice the distance to stop if a small plastic check valve fails; exploding side window glass;

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Degree Is Not Absolutely Necessary

DEAR ABBY: Our middle son, Russell (made-up name) is our problem. He is a very intelligent boy of 19 who went to college for one year just to please us, then he quit. "Why waste your money and my time?" he asked.

His grades were above average and he could have continued. His reason for quitting? He likes to work with his hands. He is now going to a trade school and we are so disappointed in him. Now, I'm not putting down people who work with their hands, but it seems to me a man who works with his hands does so only because he isn't smart enough to work with his mind. Russell's father and grandfather are professional men, and both Russell's brothers plan to enter a profession.

Can you put something in your column stating a college degree is absolutely necessary these days, Abby? After Russell graduates from college he can do anything he chooses, but we want him to finish college first. Thank you.

RUSSELL'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Sorry, but I don't agree with you. College is not for everybody. If Russell likes to work with his hands, that's what he should do. It's not true those who work with their hands aren't smart enough to work with their minds. Some handwork requires as much skill, talent and brains as many professions. Let Russell do his own thing. Happiness is working at that which gives one pleasure.

DEAR ABBY: Do all husbands pick and nag at their wives over every imperfection? My husband nagged me until I lost 20 pounds. Now he complains because my bust went down 2 inches.

That wouldn't be so bad, but his timing is rotten. He picks our most intimate moments, when he should be telling me something he likes about me, to bring up his complaints.

Doesn't a man know that this turns a woman off?

TURNED OFF
DEAR TURNED: If he doesn't, he should. And if he knows, and does it anyway, he should be turned down.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "WORKING GRANDMOTHER" who wants to keep her grandchildren (both under three years old) in a playpen at her house, I was reminded of my problem, which is exactly the opposite:

My children's grandmother cannot understand why I won't leave my children at the house. My toddlers would be safer playing alone in an abandoned mine field. There are bleaches and other harsh chemicals on the laundry room floor, drain cleaner and aspirin on a low shelf in her bathroom, extension cords plugged into the wall socket, only lying on the floor, and attractive matches and lighters within easy reach.

Outside they have cactus and olender landscaping and a shallow fish pond. And if a child should happen to stick his hand through their chain fence, a dog who bites is waiting on the other side.

There are also 20 dozen valuable fragile knickknacks all over the place, which if damaged or broken would give granny cardiac arrest.

So perhaps if she and other grandmothers read this they will realize why their daughters (and daughters in law) don't send the kiddies to Grandma's.

CAREFUL IN CALIFORNIA
DEAR CAREFUL: Perhaps. But wouldn't it be a lot easier to just level with her?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Campers, Hikers Group To Battle Park Closings

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Campers and Hikers Association in Ohio has started a drive against Gov. John J. Gilligan's order to close several state parks after Labor Day.

Clay Huelsman, of nearby Fairfield and a council leader for the organization in Ohio, said Wednesday night that "we have mailed out requests that our 10,000 members in Ohio send in written protests. We also will send out 3,000 newspaper releases to Ohio papers and we have contacted a law firm to seek some legal redress for us."

Don Plummer of Dayton and state director of the organization, confirmed the actions.

Plummer also said that the state might find itself in the midst of a legal problem because "some of these parks have reversion clauses in their deeds, so if they are not used they revert back to the families who donated the land in the first place. We aim to have our attorney check that angle too."

The closing of the parks after 9 p.m. Labor Day stems from an "austerity program" by Gilligan. He said he is taking the step to trim state costs because of the legislature's failure to resolve debate over the permanent 1971-72 budget.

Gilligan has decreed that all state parks will be closed except for those which have golf courses, state lodges or vacation cabins.

Gilligan plans to keep open the golf courses and the state lodges in state parks," Huelsman said. "Only one per cent of the residents patronize these places, the other 99 per cent want to use the camping, picnicking, beaches and lakes."

At Hueston Woods State Park in nearby Oxford, swimming will not be permitted at Acton Lake during the Labor Day weekend because "all my lifeguards have quit," park Supt. Jack Kingery said Wednesday.

He said the lifeguards received dismissal notices from Kingery's office and "they felt they had overtime coming so they quit."

Problems could arise at the beach because "we look for 100,000 persons to visit the park over the Labor Day weekend," Kingery said. During the July 4 holiday weekend, about 20,000 persons a day crowded the beach.

By CLARK KINNAIRD

No. 99 "Harness racing flourishes in the United States as nowhere else in the world, and the American standard-bred trotter has been accepted as the country's most important contribution to the ranks of domestic livestock. Standard-breds are exported every year in numbers to many different countries for both racing and breeding purposes."

The quotation, which may be news to many who assume the eminence of thoroughbreds in horse-racing, is from James Truslow Adams' authoritative Dictionary of American History (Scribner).

Improvement of breeding of trotters and pacers and popularity of the resultant sport was advanced notably in 1871. The American John H. Wallace opened systematic, official registers of racers' pedigrees and records. A (first) National Association for Promoting the American Trotting Turf had been organized, with exploiting of trotting as a spectator sport to which men could take their wives or sweethearts as one objective.

A female had emerged as a star of the sport, Goldsmith Maid. Astonishingly, at the age of fourteen, she lowered mile records set by much younger horses. The August Harper's Monthly, under the editorship of Henry Mills Alden, took notice of the popular phenomenon: "Each season the bay mare has trotted lower down the seconds. She entered upon the spring season of 1871 and . . . trotted at Fleetwood and Prospect Parks and gradually worked her way West."

It must be remembered there were neither airplane nor truck transports in those days. Train transport was relatively slow and arduous. "Working her way West" meant tiresome days in travel to tracks where she lowered mile records of the mighty stallion Dexter.

Goldsmith Maid continued trotting year in and year out in arduous campaigns which few owners or trainers of modern-day thoroughbreds would care even to contemplate. She appeared in races until aged 20, and at 21 dropped another foal. In all she won 116 of 168 starts.

As shown [—] by artist for New York City newspaper, track at Rochester was packed by persons who came from all over for match of Goldsmith Maid and Lulu.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Degree Is Not Absolutely Necessary

DEAR ABBY: Our middle son, Russell (made-up name) is our problem. He is a very intelligent boy of 19 who went to college for one year just to please us, then he quit. "Why waste your money and my time?" he asked.

His grades were above average and he could have continued. His reason for quitting? He likes to work with his hands. He is now going to a trade school and we are so disappointed in him. Now, I'm not putting down people who work with their hands, but it seems to me a man who works with his hands does so only because he isn't smart enough to work with his mind. Russell's father and grandfather are professional men, and both Russell's brothers plan to enter a profession.

Can you put something in your column stating a college degree is absolutely necessary these days, Abby? After Russell graduates from college he can do anything he chooses, but we want him to finish college first. Thank you.

RUSSELL'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Sorry, but I don't agree with you. College is not for everybody. If Russell likes to work with his hands, that's what he should do. It's not true those who work with their hands aren't smart enough to work with their minds. Some handwork requires as much skill, talent and brains as many professions. Let Russell do his own thing. Happiness is working at that which gives one pleasure.

DEAR ABBY: Do all husbands pick and nag at their wives over every imperfection? My husband nagged me until I lost 20 pounds. Now he complains because my bust went down 2 inches.

That wouldn't be so bad, but his timing is rotten. He picks our most intimate moments, when he should be telling me something he likes about me, to bring up his complaints.

Doesn't a man know that this turns a woman off?

TURNED OFF
DEAR TURNED: If he doesn't, he should. And if he knows, and does it anyway, he should be turned down.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "WORKING GRANDMOTHER" who wants to keep her grandchildren (both under three years old) in a playpen at her house, I was reminded of my problem, which is exactly the opposite.

My children's grandmother cannot understand why I won't leave my children at the house. My toddlers would be safer playing alone in an abandoned mine field. There are bleaches and other harsh chemicals on the laundry room floor, drain cleaner and aspirin on a low shelf in her bathroom, extension cords plugged into the wall socket, only lying on the floor, and attractive matches and lighters within easy reach.

Outside they have cactus and olender landscaping and a shallow fish pond. And if a child should happen to stick his hand through their chain fence, a dog who bites is waiting on the other side.

There are also 20 dozen valuable fragile knickknacks all over the place, which if damaged or broken would give granny cardiac arrest.

So perhaps if she and other grandmothers read this they will realize why their daughters (and daughters in law) don't send the kiddies to Grandma's.

CAREFUL IN CALIFORNIA
DEAR CAREFUL: Perhaps. But wouldn't it be a lot easier to just level with her?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Campers, Hikers Group To Battle Park Closings

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Campers and Hikers Association in Ohio has started a drive against Gov. John J. Gilligan's order to close several state parks after Labor Day.

Clay Huelsman, of nearby Fairfield and a council leader for the organization in Ohio, said Wednesday night that "we have mailed out requests that our 10,000 members in Ohio send in written protests. We also will send out 3,000 newspaper releases to Ohio papers and we have contacted a law firm to seek some legal redress for us."

Don Plummer of Dayton and state director of the organization, confirmed the action.

Plummer also said that the state might find itself in the midst of a legal problem because "some of these parks have reversion clauses in their deeds, so if they are not used they revert back to the families who donated the land in the first place. We aim to have our attorney check that angle too."

The closing of the parks after 9 p.m. Labor Day stems from an "austerity program" by Gilligan. He said he is taking the step to trim state costs because of the legislature's failure to resolve debate over the permanent 1971-72 budget.

Gilligan has decreed that all state parks will be closed except for those which have golf courses, state lodges or vacation cabins.

Gilligan plans to keep open the golf courses and the state lodges in state parks," Huelsman said. "Only one per cent of the residents patronize these places, the other 99 per cent want to use the camping, picnicking, beaches and lakes."

At Hueston Woods State Park in nearby Oxford, swimming will not be permitted at Acton Lake during the Labor Day weekend because "all my lifeguards have quit," park Supt. Jack Kingery said Wednesday.

He said the lifeguards received dismissal notices from Gilligan's office and "they felt they had overtime coming so they quit."

Problems could arise at the beach because "we look for 100,000 persons to visit the park over the Labor Day weekend," Kingery said. During the July 4 holiday weekend, about 20,000 persons a day crowded the beach.

Downgrading Beauty

Herbert Spencer never heard of the Club of Hard Heads before he wrote, "the saying that beauty is but skin-deep is 'but a skin-deep saying.'" Chances are, if the English philosopher had been acquainted with the club, he could have come up with some choice rebuttals to a motto like "always marry a woman uglier than you."

This phrase is more of a challenge than a motto, but it is the credo of an organization of 100 German university intellectuals. A beautiful woman is a liability in a marriage, so the theory goes, because she is so busy being beautiful she has little time for husband, home or family.

Psychologists may not be able to refute the cold logic of the club's hard-headed analysis of beauty, but the lack of understanding of pure female beauty expressed by the intellectuals makes one wonder if membership in the club is limited to bachelors who have sealed themselves in dungeons filled with spiders and cauldrons of medieval potions.

Whatever their academic achievements, it is obvious the members have not mastered the fundamentals of understanding the creature called woman. Not only do they insult the entire gender by narrowing their field of definition to the one sense of visual perception, but they insist upon compounding the error by falling back on the old cliché of a pretty face and an empty head.

Fallible Indicator

Economists are having a heyday evaluating, analyzing, explaining and predicting the consequences of rapidly changing ground rules. Few are paying any attention to one of the oldest—and some say most reliable—economic indicators of all.

The length of women's skirts has long been noted as a barometer of economic significance. The higher the hemline, the greater the boom, or so the theory goes.

There are no precise formulas for measuring the cause and effect relationship, but most observers are content to rely upon visual reflection.

There is a problem in determining precisely which way hemlines are moving. Fashion house decrees to the contrary, most crowds will include a generous sampling of minis, midis, hot pants and pantsuits. What exactly does it mean?

It means, obviously, the economy is going through a confused state. When the ladies begin to sort out their preferences, that is when the prognosticators will have something definite to hang their professional opinions on, and not before.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BARBARA WALTERS, star of the "Today" TV show, asked Mamie Eisenhower the secret of her long and happy marriage to the late President. Mrs. E. thought momentarily, then answered, "I'd say it was because we did not have one single thing in common!"

Then Barbara asked, "What do you think was President Eisenhower's greatest thrill? D-Day? His election in 1952? Or in 1956?" "None of those things at all," chuckled Mrs. E. "It was the first time he made a hole in one at the Eldorado Golf Club!"

There's a gypsy crystal-gazer on the Atlantic City boardwalk who keeps right up with the times. Outside her booth is a big poster proclaiming, "For fifty cents I'll guess your sex!"

A very pretty lady named Trudy Dye Farrand, reports Charlie Rice, now edits "Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine," designed for kids and underwritten by the National Wildlife Federation in Washington, D.C.

Here's the kind of information with which "Ranger Rick" is bustin' out all over: 1. Never get within 16 feet of a skunk. Its aim is deadly up to 15 feet. 2. A porcupine has 30,000 quills, as many an inquisitive dog can testify. 3. Butterflies taste with the soles of their feet; grasshoppers hear with their knees; whales can't talk, but can whistle like all get-out, and a sparrow has more bones in his neck than a giraffe: 14 to 21!

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When one goes to more than one doctor, can't the drugs they each prescribe work against each other?

Dear Mrs. S.:

There are many drugs that are incompatible with others. This means one may reduce the efficiency of the other, or even work in conflict.

For this very reason every doctor invariably asks patients if they are taking any medicines besides those which he is about to prescribe.

Of course, a patient has a special obligation to himself and to the doctor to let him know what other drugs are being taken.

One of the great talents of the pharmacist, with his long background in chemistry, is to know how well certain drugs will mix with others, and how safe the combination will be.

If he is not completely satisfied, he will call the physician and discuss the problem of drug compatibility with him.

Far too often, the scientific training of the pharmacist is overlooked because of the commercial aspect of his profession. He plays an indispensable role in the health team.

One of our children has a pinworm infection. We were shocked to learn this because we have always felt that our home is immaculate.

Is it more common than we are led to believe?

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Ore.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. T.:

Contrary to general knowledge, pinworm disorders occur rather frequently, even in northern climates.

They do occur more frequently in underprivileged tropical or subtropical areas.

Pinworms, or enterobiasis, is caused by a tiny worm that deposits its eggs around the rectal opening.

Persistent irritation and itching makes the physician suspect this condition may exist.

The diagnosis is made definite by finding the pinworm eggs through microscopic study of a stool specimen.

More than one member of the family may develop a pinworm infection because they can be passed from one person to another by the use of the same towel.

Scrupulous hygiene, coupled with the new effective drugs, can completely eradicate this parasitic problem.

Your child may very well have picked up this condition from another child outside the home. Children at school and at camp should be instructed about rules of personal hygiene.

Do not consider this as a reflection on the cleanliness of your home. "It happens in the best of families." It is annoying, but it is curable, and leaves no after-effects.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Listening, and following the instructions of the physician are basics for being an excellent patient.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

Super-optimists continue to assure us that "prosperity is just around the corner." What we would like to know is what corner. Seems we've been going around in circles for an awfully long time.

Baseballically speaking, looks like this will be a year without an Indian summer — what with the Atlanta Braves and the Cleveland Tribe way off the pennant pace.

And most sports prognosticators don't expect the Washington Redskins to get very far along the football warpath, either!

An over-confident political office seeker who is inclined to count his chickens before they are hatched, is liable to find at election time that he is the one who laid the egg.

Moths have a natural dislike for green cloth—nature item. Maybe that's why our St. Patrick's Day tie has outlasted all our other cravats.

No two zebras, say zoologists, are marked alike. And we always thought they were animals of the same stripe!

All objects appear to dogs in various shades of black and white—Factograph item. Except, naturally, when they spot a cat—and then the feline, no matter what its color, makes 'em see red.

On Economics

By JEFFERY HART

President Nixon's sudden moves on the economic front engage matters so complex that the layman is bound to be bewildered, and to make understanding even more difficult the entire situation is, of course, embroiled in partisan controversy. But what, in fact, was going on just prior to the President's decision to "do something"?

One advantage of having specialized knowledge in certain fields is the awareness this creates, by contrast, that one does not have comparable specialized knowledge elsewhere, and where economics is concerned I am no specialist. As the next best thing, I sought out an expert, Prof. Colin Campbell of Dartmouth, a recognized authority with plenty of Washington experience. He made the following lucid points:

(1) No doubt for political reasons, the Nixon Administration was not really frank about the difficulty of slowing down inflation, but, in fact, there was no way of slowing inflation without creating unemployment and causing a recession.

(2) Nevertheless, despite the difficulties, the Nixon approach was working. From March, 1969 to June, 1970, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 6.1 per cent. From June, 1970 to April, 1971, they rose at a rate of 4.0 per cent. From October, 1968 to May, 1970, wholesale industrial prices rose at an annual rate of 3.9 per cent. From May, 1970 to May, 1971, they rose at a rate of 3.6 per cent. Though the figures for the previous eight years show a continuous increase in the rate of inflation, the Nixon policies had demonstrably reversed this and deceleration had set in.

(3) Where unemployment is concerned, economists differ on the importance they would assign to various causes, but generally speaking, the following are the three main causes: (1) the tight fiscal policy (the 10 per cent surtax) of mid-1968, which was the Johnson Administration's weapon against inflation but which, however, failed to have the effect anticipated; (b) the tightening of monetary policy by the Federal Reserve Board in January, 1969. By slowing down the rate of expansion in the money supply, the FRB policy did have an impact on inflation, but also, as expected, produced unemployment; and (c) the winding down of the Vietnamese War, and the consequent reductions in the size of the armed forces and in defense spending.

(4) More probably could have been done to combat inflation if the Nixon Administration had opted for a policy of the "sharp knock" — that is, a much more rapid increase in unemployment and a sharper recession. No doubt for political reasons, however, the policy chosen was one of "gradualism" — some gains against inflation, along with moderate unemployment.

(5) A great many economic myths are being foisted on the uninformed. Thus the columnists Evans and Novak, writing in the July Atlantic, claim that "the Nixon Administration faced the nightmare of simultaneous inflation and recession for the first time in modern history." Actually, says Campbell, prices rose in the United States right through the classroom.

recessions of 1957-58 and 1960-61, and in the mini-recession of 1967. This has also been true of all the recessions in Europe and Japan in the postwar period. Evans and Novak, in the same article, write of inflation as "a crisis ripping at the innards of America." This statement, says Campbell, would have little support from any economists, right or left. "The inflation we have experienced," he says, "though unfortunate, is not more rapid than has existed in almost every European country throughout the postwar period. As far as I know, it has not caused any kind of crises in these countries, and in fact, they have prospered far more than anyone expected they would."

(6) Where various kinds of wage-and-price controls are concerned, Campbell is skeptical. "I do not know of any example in any country where wage-price guidelines have been an effective policy in preventing inflation. The reason is quite simple. The President can control the price of steel and other such products, but this does not prevent prices overall from rising. If people can buy goods made of steel for less, they have more to spend on other things, so the prices for the other things rise more rapidly than they otherwise would have. When this happens, there is no way of persuading the unions to stay within the guidelines on wages and wages rise generally. The program breaks down. The comprehensive wage-price freezes of the kind advocated by (John) Galbraith would have to entail rationing, allocation of materials, the outlawing of strikes, and so on, and undoubtedly would stifle the economy."

Two new factors, however, overwhelmed the gradualist game-plan. First, the Federal Reserve Board, responding to the international monetary situation, drastically expanded the money supply, a measure that might well have fueled inflation at home.

More important, the economy had become the Number One political issue stressed by the Democrats, and they clearly planned to run on the economic issue in 1972. Though the gradualist game-plan was "working," therefore, it was not working nearly fast enough to suit the political timetable. Analytically speaking, orthodox economic theory is very likely true; when it is not politically viable, however, it can score its successes only in the United States right through the classroom.

NEW YORK (AP) — Questions which never seem to meet with satisfactory answers:

Why can't you whip City Hall?

When will the millennium ever get here?

Why does a dropped cufflink always roll under a bed or heavy sofa instead of an easily moved chair?

Can you find anything except free advice that is more blessed to give than to receive?

If everything that goes up has to come down, what keeps holding taxes and prices aloft?

Is the generation gap caused by the fact that we have given our children so much latitude that all we have left to live by ourselves is longitude?

After Vietnam—what next? Why is a man who has drunk excessively said to be three sheets to the wind—but never four or five sheets to the wind?

Was Diogenes really searching for an honest man? If so, what for?

Why is it that when you've been the life of the party the night before, you feel like walking death all the next day?

How many women cancel trips abroad because they can't stand to show their passport photos in public?

If charity begins at home, why do they seem to take up more collections in the office every year?

Who's in God's corner? Who's on first?

If life begins at 40, what kind of a life?

Do psychiatrists talk to themselves more than other people?

Can man better his environment before he betters himself?

Thinking back over the movies you've seen recently, can you name one that is better than "King Kong"?

If you had it all to do over again, wouldn't you at least want to do it with a better class of people?

Downgrading Beauty

Herbert Spencer never heard of the Club of Hard Heads before he wrote, "the saying that beauty is but skin-deep is but a skin-deep saying." Chances are, if the English philosopher had been acquainted with the club, he could have come up with some choice rebuttals to a motto like "always marry a woman uglier than you."

This phrase is more of a challenge than a motto, but it is the credo of an organization of 100 German university intellectuals. A beautiful woman is a liability in a marriage, so the theory goes, because she is so busy being beautiful she has little time for husband, home or family.

Psychologists may not be able to refute the cold logic of the club's hard-headed analysis of beauty, but the lack of understanding of pure female beauty expressed by the intellectuals makes one wonder if membership in the club is limited to bachelors who have sealed themselves in dungeons filled with spiders and cauldrons of medieval potions.

Whatever their academic achievements, it is obvious the members have not mastered the fundamentals of understanding the creature called woman. Not only do they insult the entire gender by narrowing their field of definition to the one sense of visual perception, but they insist upon compounding the error by falling back on the old cliché of a pretty face and an empty head.

Fallible Indicator

Economists are having a heyday evaluating, analyzing, explaining and predicting the consequences of rapidly changing ground rules. Few are paying any attention to one of the oldest—and some say most reliable—economic indicators of all.

The length of women's skirts has long been noted as a barometer of economic significance. The higher the hemline, the greater the boom, or so the theory goes.

There are no precise formulas for measuring the cause and effect relationship, but most observers are content to rely upon visual reflection.

There is a problem in determining precisely which way hemlines are moving. Fashion house decrees to the contrary, most crowds will include a generous sampling of minis, midis, hot pants and pantsuits. What exactly does it mean?

It means, obviously, the economy is going through a confused state. When the ladies begin to sort out their preferences, that is when the prognosticators will have something definite to hang their professional opinions on, and not before.

Today is Thursday, Sept. 2, the 245th day of 1971. There are 120 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1666, the Great Fire of London began. Thirteen thousand homes were destroyed.

On this date: In 1789, the U.S. Treasury Department was established, with Alexander Hamilton as secretary.

In 1864, during the Civil War, Union forces under Gen. William T. Sherman occupied Atlanta, Ga.

In 1901, Vice President Theodore Roosevelt said in a speech at the Minnesota State Fair: "Speak softly and carry a big stick; you will go far."

In 1940, the United States transferred 50 destroyers to Britain in exchange for a lease of military bases in Newfoundland and the British West Indies.

In 1957, Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered National Guard troops and state police to prevent the entry of Negroes at Little Rock's Central High School.

In 1963, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace stopped school integration at Tuskegee High School by enjoining the building with state troopers.

Ten years ago: Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India addressed a meeting of neutralist nations in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and called for talks between the United States and the Soviet Union to assure world peace.

Five years ago: Trains began running again in Canada after a one-week strike.

BARBARA WALTERS, star of the "Today" TV show, asked Mamie Eisenhower the secret of her long and happy marriage to the late President. Mrs. E. thought momentarily, then answered, "I'd say it was because we did not have one single thing in common!"

Then Barbara asked, "What do you think was President Eisenhower's greatest thrill? D-Day? His election in 1952? Or in 1956?" "None of those things at all," chuckled Mrs. E. "It was the first time he made a hole in one at the Eldorado Golf Club!"

There's a gypsy crystal-gazer on the Atlantic City boardwalk who keeps right up with the times. Outside her booth is a big poster proclaiming, "For fifty cents I'll guess your sex!"

A very pretty lady named Trudy Dye Farrand, reports Charlie Rice, now edits "Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine," designed for kids and underwritten by the National Wildlife Federation in Washington, D.C.

Here's the kind of information with which "Ranger Rick" is bustin' out all over: 1. Never get within 16 feet of a skunk. Its aim is deadly up to 15 feet. 2. A porcupine has 30,000 quills, as many an inquisitive dog can testify. 3. Butterflies taste with the soles of their feet; grasshoppers hear with their knees; whales can't talk, but can whistle like all get-out, and a sparrow has more bones in his neck than a giraffe: 14 to 17!

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When one goes to more than one doctor, can't the drugs they each prescribe work against each other?

Mrs. O. S., Tenn.

There are many drugs that are incompatible with others. This means one may reduce the efficiency of the other, or even work in conflict.

For this very reason every doctor invariably asks patients if they are taking any medicines besides those which he is about to prescribe.

Of course, a patient has a special obligation to himself and to the doctor to let him know what other drugs are being taken.

One of the great talents of the pharmacist, with his long background in chemistry, is to know how well certain drugs will mix with others, and how safe the combination will be.

If he is not completely satisfied, he will call the physician and discuss the problem of drug compatibility with him.

Far too often, the scientific training of the pharmacist is overlooked because of the commercial aspect of his profession. He plays an indispensable role in the health team.

One of our children has a pinworm infection. We were shocked to learn this because we have always felt that our home is immaculate.

Is it more common than we are led to believe?

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Ore.
Dear Mr. and Mrs. T.:
Contrary to general knowledge, pinworm disorders occur rather frequently, even in northern climates.

They do occur more frequently in underprivileged tropical or subtropical areas.

Pinworms, or enterobiasis, is caused by a tiny worm that deposits its eggs around the rectal opening.
Persistent irritation and itching makes the physician suspect this condition may exist.

The diagnosis is made definite by finding the pinworm eggs through microscopic study of a stool specimen.

More than one member of the family may develop a pinworm infection because they can be passed from one person to another by the use of the same towel.

On Economics

By JEFFERY HART

President Nixon's sudden moves on the economic front engage matters so complex that the layman is bound to be bewildered, and to make understanding even more difficult the entire situation is, of course, embroiled in partisan controversy. But what, in fact, was going on just prior to the President's decision to "do something?"

One advantage of having specialized knowledge in certain fields is the awareness this creates, by contrast, that one does not have comparable specialized knowledge elsewhere, and where economics is concerned I am no specialist. As the next best thing, I sought out an expert, Prof. Colin Campbell of Dartmouth, a recognized authority with plenty of Washington experience. He made the following lucid points:

(1) No doubt for political reasons, the Nixon Administration was not really frank about the difficulty of slowing down inflation, but, in fact, there was no way of slowing inflation without creating unemployment and causing a recession.

(2) Nevertheless, despite the difficulties, the Nixon approach was working. From March, 1969 to June, 1970, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 6.1 per cent. From June, 1970 to April, 1971, they rose at a rate of 4.0 per cent. From October, 1968 to May, 1970, wholesale industrial prices rose at an annual rate of 3.9 per cent. From May, 1970 to May, 1971, they rose at a rate of 3.6 per cent. ## GOOD OLD KEEPSAKES

THE idea of changing first came into recordings in 1857 to Leon Scott, who invented the phonograph. But it was Thomas A. Edison who in 1878 designed and patented a phonograph which not only recorded the vibrations but reconverted them into sounds," to quote the Umberto Eco-G.E. Zorzi History of Inventions (pub. by Macmillan).

However, Edison's phonograph failed to produce appreciable results until, in 1889, he substituted wax for tin as the recording material, and provided a loud speaker to amplify sounds produced by the diaphragm. Within a decade other makes of "talking-machines," some with effective improvements, appeared as rivals to Edison's for places in American homes.

Two of the early ones prized by collectors are the Berliner gramophone, first to replace Edison's cylinder record with a disc, and the Bettini micro-phonograph, which offered pedestal-based machines of classic design befitting classic music, including opera, on its cylinders. "Real reproductions of female voices; no other machine can do it," was a Bettini boast.

Newspaper Fights For Tax Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Dayton Daily News today sued in the Ohio Supreme Court to force the Lawrence County auditor to release tax records the paper contends are public.

The newspaper also asked in the suit that County Auditor Ray G. Waller be required to publish the county's delinquent tax list.

The list has not been published since 1968.

Baseballically speaking, looks like this will be a year without an Indian summer — what with the Atlanta Braves and the Cleveland Tribe way off the pennant pace.

And most sports prognosticators don't expect the Washington Redskins to get very far along the football warpath, either!

An over-confident political office seeker who is inclined to count his chickens before they are hatched, is liable to find at election time that he is the one who laid the egg.

Moths have a natural dislike for green cloth—nature item. Maybe that's why our St. Patrick's Day tie has outlasted all our other cravats.

No two zebras, say zoologists, are marked alike. And we always thought they were animals of the same stripe!

All objects appear to dogs in various shades of black and white—Factograph item. Except, naturally, when they spot a cat—and then the feline, no matter what its color, makes'em see red.

Trinity Lutheran Church Setting For Marriage Vows

MR. AND MRS. RANDY K. WELLER

Wedding vows were exchanged by Beverly E. Carter and Mr. Randy K. Weller 7:30 p.m. Friday, July 30th in Trinity Lutheran Church. Pastor Carl G. Zehner performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Woolever, Route 1, Kingston and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Weller, 832 Pershing Drive.

Miss Patty Schleich organist and Mr. George Weller, vocalist presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. The altar was adorned with vases holding arrangements of blue and white pompons.

The bride was attired in a blue crepe street length dress with gray accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow and blue daisies.

Maid of honor, Miss Sue Carter, wore a peach satin dress and carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow daisies.

Mr. Brooks Davis performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Royce Woolever and Mr. Tom Ebenhack.

Mrs. Woolever wore for her daughter's wedding a pink and white dress with white accessories and a pink and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Weller was attired in a beige and white dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Iron-on patches are life-savers for all sorts of mending. Just be sure to follow directions and the patch will last through quite a few launderings.

4 Arrested For Abortive Escape Plan

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek government says four persons, including the Greek widow of the discoverer of penicillin and two Americans, have admitted plotting to rescue a Greek serving a life sentence for trying to assassinate Premier George Papadopoulos.

A government spokesman said those arrested were Lady Amalia Fleming, 55-year-old widow of the Scottish scientist Sir Alexander Fleming; John Skelton, a 26-year-old theology student from Yardley, Pa.; Athina Psichoyiou, a Greek-American divorcee; and a Greek named Constantine Androustopoulos.

Government spokesman Byron Stamatiopoulos told a news conference all four had made statements "incriminating themselves and confirming the escape plan."

He said they were arrested early Tuesday as they approached the suburban prison housing Alexander Panagoulis, Panagoulis, 32, was condemned to death in November 1968 for an attempt three months earlier to kill Greece's military premier, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment following protests from abroad.

Stamatiopoulos said the four would be tried by a military court following a brief investigation. The maximum sentence possible is five years imprisonment.

The spokesman said the government learned of the escape plan by intercepting correspondence between Panagoulis and his brother, who came to Athens recently from Rome. He said Panagoulis planned to drug his guard with sleeping pills in a soft drink and then escape in the darkness over the fence of the military police training center where he was held. Lady Fleming was to drive the getaway car, Stamatiopoulos said.

AF Museum Dedication Protest Set

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Anti-war and welfare rights groups are planning a protest march and rally when President Nixon visits Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Friday to dedicate the new $6 million Air Force Museum.

Howard Moskowitz of nearby Yellow Springs, spokesman for the demonstrators, said a five-mile march will end at Eastwood Park for a rally with slogans of "stop the war, stop the unemployment and stop Nixon."

Then the demonstrators will join crowds at the dedication, Moskowitz said, "to make known their opposition to Nixon's policies."

Nixon's plane, the "Spirit of '76," will land at Wright Field on the base at about 6:30 p.m. and taxi directly to the new museum. Air Force officials said Wednesday.

Gates will be opened to the public for the dedication, but the museum itself will be closed until after the program is over. However, visitors can tour the huge parking space outside where many historic planes are on exhibit.

Security forces are to be augmented for the President's visit, although Air Force officials had said earlier field personnel would be able to handle the crowd of up to 200,000.

The Air Force Logistics Command, with headquarters at the base, will provide its band along with the band of the National Cash Register Co. to entertain early crowds.

British Deserters

LONDON (AP) — More soldiers than other branches of the military service desert in Britain. At the beginning of 1971 those missing for more than five years were: Army 6,000; Royal Air Force 4,700; Navy 100.

A-C Offers Free Lunches

Amanda-Clearcreek Schools today reported that the district would take part in the federal program to supply free and lower priced lunches to needy families or those who are suffering from unusual hardships.

Anyone feeling they may qualify under the program should check their income and family size against a chart available from the school to determine if the school aged children are eligible for a noon meal free of cost or at a reduced rate.

For example, in a family of four where three children are in Amanda district schools and total annual income is $4,200, all three youngsters could receive free lunches, meeting the eligibility requirements.

To apply, a parent may fill in a form sent to homes in the school district with an explanatory letter. Applications may be submitted any time during the year. Any information provided on the applications will be kept confidential and be used only for determining eligibility.

Under the provisions of the policy, the district superintendent for Amanda-Clearcreek Schools will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the local official's ruling, he may request, orally or in writing, for a hearing to appeal the decision. Hearing official for the district is the president of the Board of Education.

4 Arrested For Abortive Escape Plan

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek government says four persons, including the Greek widow of the discoverer of penicillin and two Americans, have admitted plotting to rescue a Greek serving a life sentence for trying to assassinate Premier George Papadopoulos.

A government spokesman said those arrested were Lady Amalia Fleming, 55-year-old widow of the Scottish scientist Sir Alexander Fleming; John Skelton, a 26-year-old theology student from Yardley, Pa.; Athina Psichoyiou, a Greek-American divorcee; and a Greek named Constantine Androustopoulos.

Government spokesman Byron Stamatopoulos told a news conference all four had made statements "incriminating themselves and confirming the escape plan."

He said they were arrested early Tuesday as they approached the suburban prison housing Alexander Panagoulis, 32, was condemned to death in November 1968 for an attempt three months earlier to kill Greece's military premier, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment following protests from abroad.

Stamatopoulos said the four would be tried by a military court following a brief investigation. The maximum sentence possible is five years imprisonment.

AF Museum Dedication Protest Set

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Anti-war and welfare rights groups are planning a protest march and rally when President Nixon visits Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Friday to dedicate the new $6 million Air Force Museum.

Howard Moskowitz of nearby Yellow Springs, spokesman for the demonstrators, said a five-mile march will end at Eastwood Park for a rally with slogans of "stop the war, stop the unemployment and stop Nixon."

Then the demonstrators will join crowds at the dedication, Moskowitz said, "to make known their opposition to Nixon's policies."

Nixon's plane, the "Spirit of '76," will land at Wright Field on the base at about 6:30 p.m. and taxi directly to the new museum. Air Force officials said Wednesday.

Gates will be opened to the public for the dedication, but the museum itself will be closed until after the program is over. However, visitors can tour the huge parking space outside where many historic planes are on exhibit.

Security forces are to be augmented for the President's visit, although Air Force officials had said earlier field personnel would be able to handle the crowd of up to 200,000.

The Air Force Logistics Command, with headquarters at the base, will provide its band along with the band of the National Cash Register Co. to entertain early crowds.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to add efficiency and color to whatever you are doing. As the long Labor Day weekend is here, make a special point to be careful in travel. Watch what the other person does and avoid trouble. Also don't try to change anything which another person would resent.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You find friends difficult to cope with today, particularly in the evening when they are feeling upset about something. Attend a social affair but don't argue with anyone. Show that you have poise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Steer clear of higher-ups who may be on the warpath and wait someone to vent displeasure upon. Don't take any risks where your reputation is concerned. Show that you have tact and diplomacy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do nothing that will jeopardize your chances with others about a trip you are planning. Show wisdom in writing. Know all the facts before you say anything. Think cleverly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have obligations to meet, so don't try to avoid them but carry through cleverly. Mate may be in a bad mood so try to be more gentle. Make this a happy evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although associates may do things you do not comprehend, go about your own business and all will be well. Don't tangle with a person who opposes you. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have much work to do so start early and you accomplish a great deal, especially where health matters are concerned. A co-worker is disturbed, so treat with kindness. Avoid strife with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be content with entertainment that is not costly. If you spend too much, you could regret it later. Avoid one who wants to talk you into something not worthwhile. Show that you have good sense.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you do anything that disturbs the harmony you now enjoy at home there could be real trouble ensuing. You have good ideas but this is not a good day to put them in motion. Study them more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are anxious to travel now but make sure you do not take any risks. Study agreements well so that you know every detail. Caution is the keynote now. Show that you possess wisdom.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A new approach at present dealings will bring far better results now. Follow the advice of a business expert. Don't be extravagant in any way, be sure to stay within your budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You feel full of pep and may want to do something you would regret later. Self control is what you need. Don't get good friends involved. Improve your appearance and be happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget about making any big investments today. Go out for recreation that will put you back on an even keel. You don't want to be bored. There is much you can do at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who is a natural problem solver. Given an opportunity your youngster could become a wizard at this, helping others and making much money. Give as fine an education as you can afford since the mind is both quick and clever and much will be absorbed. Working for the government is splendid here.

Views On TV - Radio

TV & Radio By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The blind "watch" a lot of television, says actor James Franciscus, who learned about the habits of the sightless as he prepared to play a blind man.

"It's not complicated," the star of ABC's new "Longstreet" series explained. "They can hear the dialogue and with their keen hearing, they can follow much of the action by the sound of footsteps, deduce locations by the way sound bounces off walls, interpret the meaning of closing doors and starting motors. Besides, there is usually a sighted person around to clue them in from time to time."

Franciscus, a slight blond man whose last successful TV series was "Mr. Novak," plays Mike Longstreet, a crack insurance investigator blinded in an explosion that killed his wife.

"This fellow is far more out of reach for me than Novak, a teacher, ever was," the actor said. "It is taking me a long time to really get into him."

Franciscus said that after the pilot sold as a series, he "put on a blindfold for 24 hours to get the feeling. It was easy enough to make my way around familiar surroundings, but once I was outside, I was completely lost."

He worked with the blind at a school, learning the correct way to use a cane. But the greatest help came from talks with the blind students.

"I learned what made a good day for them or a bad day," he explained. "I learned what were compensating factors for their loss. Later I went to San Raphael near San Francisco and worked with the guide dogs."

Eventually Franciscus wrote, for his own guidance as much as to help the assortment of script writers and directors, a five-page biography of the man he proposed to play.

"I now feel that blindness need not be a handicap," he said. "A nuisance, yes, but there are so many ways they can function usefully."

"Longstreet" appears to be simply a novel switch on the standard detective story formula—an insurance mystery each week solved by a clever investigator without the help of his eyes.

"I don't think that the cases are important in our series," Franciscus said. "I think it is the character. Essentially it will be watching Longstreet, chapter by chapter, sometimes succeeding, sometimes failing. In the seven shows we have finished, only two really concentrate on the case."

Ohio Faces No Court - Ordered School Busing

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There will be no court-ordered busing of school children in Ohio to achieve racial balance this fall, but a number of districts are trying various programs, including busing, to integrate their schools.

Federal courts in other states, mostly in the South, have ordered that children in predominantly white or black schools be bused into other zones to achieve a racial mix more reflective of the makeup of the community.

But school officials in Ohio are still confused about where the federal government stands on busing.

"The federal stance is beginning to be something of a joke," said Robert O. Greer, assistant school superintendent for Ohio. "The school districts don't know what to do."

The U.S. Supreme Court added to the confusion Tuesday when Chief Justice Warren Burger said the high court's April ruling on busing in Charlotte, N. C., did not mean that every school in every community must reflect the racial balance in the community.

Despite the uncertainty over busing, officials say they feel the federal government will require some plan for integrating schools in areas where population patterns have resulted in all-black or all-white student bodies.

Some districts have already taken steps to achieve integration and new programs are expected in the next year or two.

In Dayton, a newly formed advisory committee for "reducing racial and economic isolation" met for the first time this week to consider a state education department proposal.

Under the proposal, the committee will recommend plans for integrating schools to make black and white student populations fall within a given percentage of the racial balance in the community.

Those recommendations would not be in effect before the 1972-73 school year.

In Shaker Heights a voluntary school busing program will start its second year this fall.

Officials said about 210 black and white students of the community's 7,500 youngsters were bused last year and more are expected to volunteer for busing this year.

Ed McMillan, administrative assistant to the superintendent, said the program has been well-received by students and parents and has resulted in better academic performance among both black and white students

"This isn't the best of all possible worlds," McMillan said. "But we're very happy with it."

Toledo also has a busing program, but it is voluntary and is primarily designed to move students from crowded inner city schools to less crowded schools in white areas.

Last year more than 1,000 students were bused. Like many school districts, Toledo also permits students to transfer to any school which offers a course they desire which is not available at their regular school.

Greer said that altogether 118 Ohio school districts are examining an assortment of programs for integrating schools.

Among plans being considered, in addition to busing, are redrawing school boundaries, construction of new schools on boundary lines between existing schools predominantly black or white and exchanges between adjacent school zones.

Federal education authorities have been in touch with some Ohio school districts about desegregation plans, but so far there has been no federal order and all programs currently in effect or under consideration are voluntary.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to add efficiency and color to whatever you are doing. As the long Labor Day weekend is here, make a special point to be careful in travel. Watch what the other person does and avoid trouble. Also don't try to change anything which another person would resent.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You find friends difficult to cope with today, particularly in the evening when they are feeling upset about something. Attend a social affair but don't argue with anyone. Show that you have poise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Steer clear of higher-ups who may be on the warpath and wait someone to vent displeasure upon. Don't take any risks where your reputation is concerned. Show that you have tact and diplomacy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do nothing that will jeopardize your chances with others about a trip you are planning. Show wisdom in writing. Know all the facts before you say anything. Think cleverly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have obligations to meet, so don't try to avoid them but carry through cleverly. Mate may be in a bad mood so try to be more gentle. Make this a happy evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although associates may do things you do not comprehend, go about your own business and all will be well. Don't tangle with a person who opposes you. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have much work to do so start early and you accomplish a great deal, especially where health matters are concerned. A co-worker is disturbed, so treat with kindness. Avoid strife with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be content with entertainment that is not costly. If you spend too much, you could regret it later. Avoid one who wants to talk you into something not worthwhile. Show that you have good sense.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you do anything that disturbs the harmony you now enjoy at home there could be real trouble ensuing. You have good ideas but this is not a good day to put them in motion. Study them more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are anxious to travel now but make sure you do not take any risks. Study agreements well so that you know every detail. Caution is the keynote now. Show that you possess wisdom.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A new approach at present dealings will bring far better results now. Follow the advice of a business expert. Don't be extravagant in any way, be sure to stay within your budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You feel full of pep and may want to do something you would regret later. Self control is what you need. Don't get good friends involved. Improve your appearance and be happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget about making any big investments today. Go out for recreation that will put you back on an even keel. You don't want to be bored. There is much you can do at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who is a natural problem solver. Given an opportunity your youngster could become a wizard at this, helping others and making much money. Give as fine an education as you can afford since the mind is both quick and clever and much will be absorbed. Working for the government is splendid here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! ((c) 1971, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Views On TV - Radio

TV & Radio By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) —

The blind "watch" a lot of television, says actor James Franciscus, who learned about the habits of the sightless as he prepared to play a blind man.

"It's not complicated," the star of ABC's new "Longstreet" series explained. "They can hear the dialogue and with their keen hearing, they can follow much of the action by the sound of footsteps, deduce locations by the way sound bounces off walls, interpret the meaning of closing doors and starting motors. Besides, there is usually a sighted person around to clue them in from time to time."

Franciscus, a slight blond man whose last successful TV series was "Mr. Novak," plays Mike Longstreet, a crack insurance investigator blinded in an explosion that killed his wife. "This fellow is far more out of reach for me than Novak, a teacher, ever was," the actor said. "It is taking me a long time to really get into him."

Franciscus said that after the pilot sold as a series, he "put on a blindfold for 24 hours to get the feeling. It was easy enough to make my way around familiar surroundings, but once I was outside, I was completely lost."

He worked with the blind at a school, learning the correct way to use a cane. But the greatest help came from talks with the blind students.

"I learned what made a good day for them or a bad day," he explained. "I learned what were compensating factors for their loss. Later I went to San Raphael near San Francisco and worked with the guide dogs."

Eventually Franciscus wrote, for his own guidance as much as to help the assortment of script writers and directors, a five-page biography of the man he proposed to play.

"I now feel that blindness need not be a handicap," he said. "A nuisance, yes, but there are so many ways they can function usefully."

"Longstreet" appears to be simply a novel switch on the standard detective story formula—an insurance mystery each week solved by a clever investigator without the help of his eyes.

"I don't think that the cases are important in our series," Franciscus said. "I think it is the character. Essentially it will be watching Longstreet, chapter by chapter, sometimes succeeding, sometimes failing. In the seven shows we have finished, only two really concentrate on the case."

Ohio Faces No Court - Ordered School Busing

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

There will be no court-ordered busing of school children in Ohio to achieve racial balance this fall, but a number of districts are trying various programs, including busing, to integrate their schools.

Federal courts in other states, mostly in the South, have ordered that children in predominantly white or black schools be bused into other zones to achieve a racial mix more reflective of the makeup of the community.

But school officials in Ohio are still confused about where the federal government stands on busing.

"The federal stance is beginning to be something of a joke," said Robert O. Greer, assistant school superintendent for Ohio. "The school districts don't know what to do."

The U.S. Supreme Court added to the confusion Tuesday when Chief Justice Warren Burger said the high court's April ruling on busing in Charlotte, N.C., did not mean that every school in every community must reflect the racial balance in the community.

Despite the uncertainty over busing, officials say they feel the federal government will require some plan for integrating schools in areas where population patterns have resulted in all-black or all-white student bodies.

Some districts have already taken steps to achieve integration and new programs are expected in the next year or two. In Dayton, a newly formed advisory committee for "reducing racial and economic isolation" met for the first time this week to consider a state education department proposal.

Under the proposal, the committee will recommend plans for integrating schools to make black and white student populations fall within a given percentage of the racial balance in the community.

Those recommendations would not be in effect before the 1972-73 school year.

In Shaker Heights a voluntary school busing program will start its second year this fall.

Officials said about 210 black and white students of the community's 7,500 youngsters were bused last year and more are expected to volunteer for busing this year.

Ed McMillan, administrative assistant to the superintendent, said the program has been well-received by students and parents and has resulted in better academic performance among both black and white students

"This isn't the best of all possible worlds," McMillan said. "But we're very happy with it."

Toledo also has a busing program, but it is voluntary and is primarily designed to move students from crowded inner city schools to less crowded schools in white areas.

Last year more than 1,000 students were bused. Like many school districts, Toledo also permits students to transfer to any school which offers a course they desire which is not available at their regular school.

Greer said that altogether 118 Ohio school districts are examining an assortment of programs for integrating schools.

Among plans being considered, in addition to busing, are redrawing school boundaries, construction of new schools on boundary lines between existing schools predominantly black or white and exchanges between adjacent school zones.

Federal education authorities have been in touch with some Ohio school districts about desegregation plans, but so far there has been no federal order and all programs currently in effect or under consideration are voluntary.

State Fair Attendance Still Down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Who says the Ohio State Fair appeals only to the young?
More than 3,000 senior citizens converged on the big exposition Wednesday, the largest number ever to take part in a single day's activities.

Forty-six chartered buses, 26 from the Cincinnati area alone, brought them to ExpOhio 71 to participate in dance and cookie baking contests and ceremonies honoring prominent senior citizens and volunteer workers.

While the older fairgoers were setting an attendance mark, general crowds continued to lag slightly behind last year's pace.

Attendance Wednesday was 172,878, about 2,200 less than the same day last year. That raised the total so far to 1,301,450 about 20,000 short of the seven-day total for 1970.

And the weatherman didn't boost fair officials' hopes of attendance picking up going into the weekend. He said there was a 30 per cent chance of rain today and Friday.

Today was Governor's Day and Legislators' Day at the fair, with the headliners at the grandstand being popular country music singer Johnny Cash and his wife June Carter.

British singer Tom Jones closed out a four-show grandstand stint Wednesday. Officials estimated he performed before nearly 100,000 people.

In the cattle barns, H. H. Reisset & Sons of Plain City exhibited the grand champion Ayrshire bull and Maurice Cribblez of Bluffton showed the grand champion Brown Swiss bull.

David Scott, 15, of Sycamore in Wyandot County was named the junior champion sheep shearer, scoring ahead of 16 other contestants in the competition sponsored by the Ohio Wool Growers' Association.

Recorder Gives Monthly Report For August

A report on August business in the Pickaway County Recorder's Office was issued today by Hazel Yeatts.

The 341 recordings processed consisted of 139 deeds, 133 real estate mortgages with monies totaling $2,046,444.60, and 74 miscellaneous recordings.

Cancelled were 62 real estate mortgages involving monies of $593,914.93.

Included in the workload for June was the filing and processing of 194 financing statements, according to the report of the recorder.

5 Persons Are Shot In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — One person was killed and four others seriously wounded Wednesday night in what police described as a "slaughter" in an alley near East 79th Street and Kinsman Road.

Police said the five were apparently sitting in the alley when four to six heavily-armed men sprayed the alley with bullets.

Two of the men, aged 41 and 44, have been arrested. Killed was Arthur B. Hayes, 22. In poor condition at St. Alexis Hospital were Frank Parker, 19, Larry DeWalt, 18, and Walter Hodge, 19. In serious condition at St. Luke's Hospital was Walter Madgett, 17.

Parker was shot in the hand, arms and back, DeWalt in the stomach, arms and legs, Hodge in the head and back, and Madgett in the back.

A witness to the shooting was J.C. Duncan, 45, a salesman for the Stella D'Oro Biscuit Co., who was driving by.

Duncan said the gunmen then apparently thought he was chasing them when he stopped for a traffic light at East 80th Street and Kinsman Road.

He said one of the men pointed a gun at him and two shots were fired through his windshield. Another shot flattened his tire and a fourth blew out his radiator.

State Fair Attendance Still Down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Who says the Ohio State Fair appeals only to the young? More than 3,000 senior citizens converged on the big exposition Wednesday, the largest number ever to take part in a single day's activities.

Forty-six chartered buses, 26 from the Cincinnati area alone, brought them to ExpOhio 71 to participate in dance and cookie baking contests and ceremonies honoring prominent senior citizens and volunteer workers.

While the older fairgoers were setting an attendance mark, general crowds continued to lag slightly behind last year's pace.

Attendance Wednesday was 172,878, about 2,200 less than the same day last year. That raised the total so far to 1,301,450 about 20,000 short of the seven-day total for 1970.

And the weatherman didn't boost fair officials' hopes of attendance picking up going into the weekend. He said there was a 30 per cent chance of rain today and Friday.

Today was Governor's Day and Legislators' Day at the fair, with the headliners at the grandstand being popular country music singer Johnny Cash and his wife June Carter.

British singer Tom Jones closed out a four-show grandstand stint Wednesday. Officials estimated he performed before nearly 100,000 people.

In the cattle barns, H. H. Reistlet & Sons of Plain City exhibited the grand champion Yorkshire bull and Maurice Cribble of Bluffton showed the grand champion Brown Swiss bull.

David Scott, 15, of Sycamore in Wyandot County was named the junior champion sheep shearer, scoring ahead of 16 other contestants in the competition sponsored by the Ohio Wool Growers' Association.

Recorder Gives Monthly Report For August

A report on August business in the Pickaway County Recorder's Office was issued today by Hazel Yeatts.

The 341 recordings processed consisted of 139 deeds, 133 real estate mortgages with monies totalling $2,046,444.60, and 74 miscellaneous recordings.

Cancelled were 62 real estate mortgages involving monies of $593,914.93.

Included in the workload for June was the filing and processing of 194 financing statements, according to the report of the recorder.

5 Persons Are Shot In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — One person was killed and four others seriously wounded Wednesday night in what police described as a "slaughter" in an alley near East 79th Street and Kinsman Road.

Police said the five were apparently sitting in the alley when four to six heavily-armed men sprayed the alley with bullets.

Two of the men, aged 41 and 44, have been arrested.

Killed was Arthur B. Hayes, 22. In poor condition at St. Alexis Hospital were Frank Parker, 19, Larry DeWalt, 18, and Walter Hodge, 19. In serious condition at St. Luke's Hospital was Walter Madgett, 17.

Parker was shot in the hand, arms and back, DeWalt in the stomach, arms and legs, Hodge in the head and back, and Madgett in the back.

A witness to the shooting was J.C. Duncan, 45, a salesman for the Stella D'Oro Biscuit Co., who was driving by.

Duncan said the gunmen then apparently thought he was chasing them when he stopped for a traffic light at East 80th Street and Kinsman Road.

He said one of the men pointed a gun at him and two shots were fired through his windshield. Another shot flattened his tire and a fourth blew out his radiator.

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Nelle Francis, guest columnist reviews some recent additions to the adult collection.

"The Drift" by Lloyd Kropp concerns a young college professor from Connecticut. Endeavoring to escape the aftermath of his divorce, he takes a Caribbean cruise. The boat is wrecked in a violent storm. Because of his negligence, his dinghy is poorly equipped with survival rations. Within a matter of hours, hunger, sun and thirst bring on a state of delirium. Could his drifting into the Sargasso Sea among derelict ships and strange people be comparable to man's visionary dreams? He comes to realize this may be fantasy or hallucination. In his effort to pull himself free, he discovers that something is happening to his values — to his questioning of the nature of man's life. The reader is forced to struggle with him as he evaluates his decisions. Then the reader becomes aware that he, too, is embarked on a private drift. A different book.

Elizabeth Peters, in "The Night of Four Hundred Rabbits" has written a most interesting suspense story in Mexico. The search for the girl's father brings involvement in the Mexican drug trade. There is an interesting, but unscrupulous, young Mexican tour guide who manages to keep the reader guessing about his real role. A pretty romance in the making.

A community of Orthodox Jews, survivors of Hitler's plan for extermination, is the modern setting of "The Accused," a novel by Jerrold Morgul. There are four main characters who through the years have experienced the nightmares and terrors of reliving the many horrors perpetrated in their sight. Makes for uncomfortable reading.

May Sarton has written a sweet story about a small village in New Hampshire. "Kinds of Love" is centered around the activities of older citizens who are planning a bicentennial celebration. The action takes place during 1968-1969, and involves encounters with teenagers and their problems. Nostalgic reading.

Mystery fans will find "Search Thru the Mist" by Lucille Vernon Stevens worth reading. It is a suspense story of an orphan girl living in an English home. There is a disappearance — a murder — and many strange happenings. "The Alien" by L. P. Davies combines both suspense and science fiction in a tale of governmental intrigue and changed identity. Hilda Lewis' "The Witch and the Priest" is a tale of dark deeds based on the true story of an infamous 17th Century witch named Joan Flower.

Part-time students, those taking less than 12 credit hours, will follow the same sequence on Wednesday, Sept. 15. Students who cannot register during their appointed hour must register during the last hour of the signed day.

All classes start Sept. 22. Students registering after that date will pay a late registration fee. The last day for registration and schedule adjustments is Oct. 1.

Students who plan to take credit courses at Ohio University in Lancaster are reminded that they must be formally admitted and that the application should be completed before registration. These forms are available at the campus.

Academic advising is by appointment only. Appointments may be made by phone prior to the regularly scheduled time of registration.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Elections of PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, will receive sealed bids, not later than September 8, 1971, at 9:00 a.m. at its office in Circleville, Ohio, for the printing and furnishing of Ballots according to the specifications on file in said office.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for printing Ballots," and must be accompanied by a Bond of the Bidder in a sum double the amount of the bid, with at least two sureties or a surety company, satisfactory to the Board, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract for such printing, as may be awarded and for the payment as damages by the bidder to the Board of any excess of cost over the bid or bids which the Board may be obliged to pay for such work by reason of the failure of the bidder to complete the contract.

The contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder in the State.

The Board, however, reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Missionaries To Speak To UP Church

REV. AND MRS. COLE

The Rev. and Mrs. Billy Cole and daughter, Brenda, missionaries of the United Pentecostal Church this week will complete an evangelistic tour of the United Pentecostal Churches of Asia.

Mrs. Cole and Brenda returned from Hong Kong, July 13, while the Rev. Cole completed the tour with three weeks of meetings in Japan.

Evangelist Billy Cole will be at the Apostolic Church located at Eva Drive and Route 56, Circleville today, for a Holy Spirit Rally. Rev. Cole will speak in only one service. The service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Coles were resident missionaries in Thailand for eight years. They were the founder of the United Pentecostal Churches there. In 1969 the churches in Thailand were nationalized having full Thai leadership.

Since that time the United Pentecostal Church has appointed the Rev. and Mrs. Cole as foreign missionary evangelists. This past year they traveled to eight countries to do evangelistic work among the United Pentecostal Churches of Asia.

Young Run Amok

LONDON (AP) — A British government report said 322,898 persons were convicted of indictable offenses in 1970, half of them under 21 years of age.

Cuban Refugees Rap End Of Airlift

MIAMI (AP) — Tomas, a skinny red faced farmer from Cuba, arrived here on one of the last refugee flights and was despondent about the family he left behind. He was fearful that he may have to return.

"If Castro will not let my wife and children out, I must go back," Tomas said Wednesday. "I must find a way to go back. We cannot remain separated, maybe forever... What will happen to them?"

Tomas, who did not want his last name used, typified some of the confusion and despair of Miami's "Little Havana" in the wake of the abrupt suspension of the "freedom flights" by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

One of the main reasons given by political observers for the stoppage of the twice-a-day shuttle flights is that the island is losing much of its work force.

In the early years of the Cuban exodus, many arrivals were of the upper and middle classes and included professionals—doctors, lawyers and engineers. But the Cuban Refugee Program reports that of the 245,805 refugees who have arrived since Dec. 1, 1965, when the project began, 26 per cent are in skilled worker, managerial, professional and clerical worker categories.

Semiskilled personnel comprised 4.1 per cent of the total, some 3.2 per cent were in the service occupations, 2 per cent were farmers or fishermen and the largest category—64.4 per cent—were children, students and housewives.

To Manuela Carbo, Castro's unilateral action meant that he had finally conceded the country was in trouble and that "he is willing to destroy lives in attempts to resolve his problems."

Mrs. Carbo knows "the horrible repression of the Communist regime" first hand. She spent six years in a Cuban political prison for sabotage and other counter-revolutionary activities. The 49-year-old widow arrived in this country aboard a refugee flight in May 1967.

To Carlos Arboleya, who arrived in Miami a penniless immigrant in 1960 and rose to become president of a bank, it means that "the United States has kept its word and Fidel has broken his."

And to 13-year-old Elnora Fernandez and her 3-year-old brother, Rolando, it means that their father will have to remain on a government farm in Cuba, frustrated in his efforts to join them in Miami.

Most members of the large exile colony viewed Castro's action as part of a devious attempt to achieve some as yet unclear political objective.

Arboleya said it is Castro's "desperate way of gaining dollars. He needs dollars and he doesn't care how he gets dollars. He wants to pressure the United States into re-establishing commercial flights to bring in the much-needed hard cash."

Powerful Navy Tug Presented To Samoans

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — In the final dress inspection aboard the Navy tug Koka, the skipper was approached by barefoot, dark-skinned boys wearing lava lavas who tossed a necklace of shells over his head.

Then Lt. (j.g.) Timothy McGarvey saluted Wednesday and turned the tough little 27-year-old ship over to its new skipper, Ma'alona Elisara.

The 144-foot Koka, powerful enough to tow a cruiser, was decommissioned and presented to the territory of American Samoa as a gift of friendship. The U.S. territory in the South Pacific will use the ship for salvage and rescue work.

The Koka—originally named for an Indian village in Arizona—was renamed the "Tali-tiga," which means "ready for assistance when needed," in Samoan.

OU-L Sets Registration

Three days, Sept. 13, 14 and 15, have been set aside as registration days for fall quarter classes at the Lancaster Campus at Ohio University.

All quarter freshmen have been pre-registered for the classes and need only complete registration and pay fees to be enrolled. They will complete this part of the registration on Monday, Sept. 13 between 4 and 8 p.m.

The branch campus is discontinuing use of appointment cards for registration. Students enrolling this fall will follow an alphabetical sequence with full-time students scheduled for Sept. 14 at the following times: A through C, 3-4 p.m.; D through G, 4-5 p.m.; H through L, 5-6 p.m.; M through R, 6-7 p.m.; S through V, 7-8 p.m.; and W-Z, 8-9 p.m.

Part-time students, those taking less than 12 credit hours, will follow the same sequence on Wednesday, Sept. 15. Students who cannot register during their appointed hour must register during the last hour of the signed day.

All classes start Sept. 22. Students registering after that date will pay a late registration fee. The last day for registration and schedule adjustments is Oct. 1.

Daybook of America 1771-1871-1971
By CLARK KINNAIRD

No. 96 There is no end of controversy over bona fides of the man long regarded as the greatest writer in the English language, if not in any language, who presumably knew "little Latin and less Greek."

William Benton's Encyclopedia Britannica says, carefully, "The notion that Shakespeare's plays were not actually written by William Shakespeare of Stratford-on-Avon has been the subject of scores of books and is regarded by many as at least an interesting possibility. The source of the confusion over the authorship of the plays lies in the disparity between the greatness of Shakespeare's literary achievement... and his humble origin, the supposed inadequacy of his education, and the obscurity and ordinariness of his whole life."

Paraphrasing this line of logic has not been followed so prolifically to authorship of books of the Old and New Testaments.

The small town glover's son, aged eighteen, married Anne Hathaway, aged twenty-six, some six months before birth of her son, and subsequently departed alone (allegedly to escape punishment as a poacher on a private estate) to discover a career at London as actor. It was to be made to appear incredible, beginning exactly two centuries ago.

that he would have been capable of the authorship of Hamlet, Macbeth, Othello, Merry Wives of Windsor, and other sources of thousands of phrases in usage in Britain and the colonies a century after his death.

The first dissent to Shakespearean genius "was heard in 1771, when Herbert Lawrence, a surgeon and friend of David Garrick, issued a book entitled The Life and Adventure of Common Sense: An Historical Allergy," to quote Irving Wallace. Mr. Wallace has a vivid sketch in his book, The Nymph and Other Maniacs, of Delia Salter Bacon (1811-1895), who opened the floodgates of speculation. Lawrence contended Shakespeare had plagiarized much of "his" best writing. ## Computerized Car Pooling Being Pushed In Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — With 300,000 cars choking its highways and spewing pollutants into its air, Honolulu is trying computerized car pooling in hopes of reducing its rush-hour traffic by 50 per cent or more.

This has been tried on a smaller scale by businesses and individuals elsewhere. But Honolulu wants to have the nation's first citywide and city-run computerized car pooling system.

The plan was announced this week by Mayor Frank F. Fasi and it will begin by pooling 7,000 city employees. At the same time a campaign is planned to get all of Honolulu's work force involved.

A city spokesman said that pooling among city employees alone will take an estimated 1,000 cars from the streets during rush hours.

The procedure is simple: Residents fill out cards, saying where they live and when and where they work.

This information will be fed into the city's computer system, which will match a resident with four others. They then would share the same car.

A key figure in the effort is Clay Loges, a marketing representative for International Business Machines here who also runs the computer activities of Life of the Land, an ecology group involved in the project.

"We're trying to take a 'total approach'—something that's never been tried anywhere else," said Loges. "We're getting ideas from all across the nation and putting it all together in one package here. 'We've got the business communities interested and now we're going after the average commuter.'"

Nelle Francis, guest columnist reviews some recent additions to the adult collection.

"The Drift" by Lloyd Kropp concerns a young college professor from Connecticut. Endeavoring to escape the aftermath of his divorce, he takes a Caribbean cruise. The boat is wrecked in a violent storm. Because of his negligence, his dinghy is poorly equipped with survival rations. Within a matter of hours, hunger, sun and thirst bring on a state of delirium. Could his drifting into the Sargasso Sea among derelict ships and strange people be comparable to man's visionary dreams? He comes to realize this may be fantasy or hallucination. In his effort to pull himself free, he discovers that something is happening to his values — to his questioning of the nature of man's life. The reader is forced to struggle with him as he evaluates his decisions. Then the reader becomes aware that he, too, is embarked on a private drift. A different book.

Elizabeth Peters, in "The Night of Four Hundred Rabbits" has written a most interesting suspense story in Mexico. The search for the girl's father brings involvement in the Mexican drug trade. There is an interesting, but unscrupulous, young Mexican tour guide who manages to keep the reader guessing about his real role. A pretty romance in the making.

A community of Orthodox Jews, survivors of Hitler's plan for extermination, is the modern setting of "The Accused," a novel by Jerrold Morgulans. There are four main characters who through the years have experienced the nightmares and terrors of reliving the many horrors perpetrated in their sight. Makes for uncomfortable reading.

May Sarton has written a sweet story about a small village in New Hampshire. "Kinds of Love" is centered around the activities of older citizens who are planning a bicentennial celebration. The action takes place during 1968-1969, and involves encounters with teenagers and their problems. Nostalgic reading.

Mystery fans will find "Search Thru the Mist" by Lucille Vernon Stevens worth reading. It is a suspense story of an orphan girl living in an English home. There is a disappearance — a murder — and many strange happenings. "The Alien" by L. P. Davies combines both suspense and science fiction in a tale of governmental intrigue and changed identity. Hilda Lewis' "The Witch and the Priest" is a tale of dark deeds based on the true story of an infamous 17th Century witch named Joan Flower.

OU-L Sets Registration

Three days, Sept. 13, 14 and 15, have been set aside as registration days for fall quarter classes at the Lancaster Campus at Ohio University.

Full quarter freshmen have been pre-registered for the classes and need only complete registration and pay fees to be enrolled. They will complete this part of the registration on Monday, Sept. 13 between 4 and 8 p.m.

The branch campus is discontinuing use of appointment cards for registration. Students enrolling this fall will follow an alphabetical sequence with full-time students scheduled for Sept. 14 at the following times: A through C, 3-4 p.m.; D through G, 4-5 p.m.; H through L, 5-6 p.m.; M through R, 6-7 p.m.; S through V, 7-8 p.m.; and W-Z, 8-9 p.m.

Part-time students, those taking less than 12 credit hours, will follow the same sequence on Wednesday, Sept. 15. Students who cannot register during their appointed hour must register during the last hour of the assigned day.

All classes start Sept. 22. Students registering after that date will pay a late registration fee. The last day for registration and schedule adjustments is Oct. 1.

Students who plan to take credit courses at Ohio University in Lancaster are reminded that they must be formally admitted and that the application should be completed before registration. These forms are available at the campus.

Academic advising is by appointment only. Appointments may be made by phone prior to the regularly scheduled time of registration.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Elections of PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, will receive sealed bids, not later than September 8, 1971 at 9:00 a.m. at its office in Circleville, Ohio, for the printing and furnishing of Ballots according to the specifications on file in said office.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bid for printing Ballots," and must be accompanied by a Bond of the Bidder in a sum double the amount of the bid, with at least two sureties or a surety company, satisfactory to the Board, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract for such printing as may be awarded and for the payment as damages by the Bidder to the Board of any excess of cost over the bid or bids which the Board may be obliged to pay for such work by reason of the failure of the bidder to complete the contract.

The contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder in the State.

The Board, however, reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board, Dated this 2nd day of September, 1971.

Missionaries To Speak To UP Church

REV. AND MRS. COLE

The Rev. and Mrs. Billy Cole and daughter, Brenda, missionaries of the United Pentecostal Church this week will complete an evangelistic tour of the United Pentecostal Churches of Asia.

Mrs. Cole and Brenda returned from Hong Kong, July 13, while the Rev. Cole completed the tour with three weeks of meetings in Japan.

Evangelist Billy Cole will be at the Apostolic Church located at Eva Drive and Route 56, Circleville today, for a Holy Spirit Rally. Rev. Cole will speak in only one service. The service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Coles were resident missionaries in Thailand for eight years. They were the founder of the United Pentecostal Churches there. In 1969 the churches in Thailand were nationalized having full Thai leadership.

Since that time the United Pentecostal Church has appointed the Rev. and Mrs. Cole as foreign missionary evangelists. This past year they traveled to eight countries to do evangelist work among the United Pentecostal Churches of Asia.

Young Run Amok

LONDON (AP) — A British government report said 322,898 persons were convicted of indictable offenses in 1970, half of them under 21 years of age.

Cuban Refugees Rap End Of Airlift

MIAMI (AP) — Tomas, a skinny red faced farmer from Cuba, arrived here on one of the last refugee flights and was despondent about the family he left behind. He was fearful that he may have to return.

"If Castro will not let my wife and children out, I must go back," Tomas said Wednesday. "I must find a way to go back. We cannot remain separated, maybe forever... What will happen to them?"

Tomas, who did not want his last name used, typified some of the confusion and despair of Miami's "Little Havana" in the wake of the abrupt suspension of the "freedom flights" by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

One of the main reasons given by political observers for the stoppage of the twice-a-day shuttle flights is that the island is losing much of its work force.

In the early years of the Cuban exodus, many arrivals were of the upper and middle classes and included professionals—doctors, lawyers and engineers. But the Cuban Refugee Program reports that of the 245,805 refugees who have arrived since Dec. 1, 1965, when the project began, 26 per cent are in skilled worker, managerial, professional and clerical worker categories.

Semiskilled personnel comprised 4.1 per cent of the total, some 3.2 per cent were in the service occupations, 2 per cent were farmers or fishermen and the largest category—64.4 per cent—were children, students and housewives.

To Manuela Carbo, Castro's unilateral action meant that he had finally conceded the country was in trouble and that "he is willing to destroy lives in attempts to resolve his problems."

Mrs. Carbo knows "the horrible repression of the Communist regime" first hand. She spent six years in a Cuban political prison for sabotage and other counter-revolutionary activities. The 49-year-old widow arrived in this country aboard a refugee flight in May 1967.

To Carlos Arboleya, who arrived in Miami a penniless immigrant in 1960 and rose to become president of a bank, it means that "the United States has kept its word and Fidel has broken his."

And to 13-year-old Eloina Fernandez and her 3-year-old brother, Rolando, it means that their father will have to remain on a government farm in Cuba, frustrated in his efforts to join them in Miami.

Most members of the large exile colony viewed Castro's action as part of a devious attempt to achieve some as yet unclear political objective.

Arboleya said it is Castro's "desperate way of gaining dollars. He needs dollars and he doesn't care how he gets dollars. He wants to pressure the United States into re-establishing commercial flights to bring in the much-needed hard cash."

Powerful Navy Tug Presented To Samoans

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — In the final dress inspection aboard the Navy tug Koka, the skipper was approached by barefoot, dark-skinned boys wearing lava lavas who tossed a necklace of shells over his head.

Then Lt. (j.g.) Timothy McGarvey saluted Wednesday and turned the tough little 27-year-old ship over to its new skipper, Ma'alona Elisara.

The 144-foot Koka, powerful enough to tow a cruiser, was decommissioned and presented to the territory of American Samoa as a gift of friendship. The U.S. territory in the South Pacific will use the ship for salvage and rescue work.

The Koka—originally named for an Indian village in Arizona—was renamed the "Tali-tiga," which means "ready for assistance when needed," in Samoan.

Novack New School Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Director William Ensign of the Ohio Youth Commission announced today the appointment of Gerald Novack, 35, as superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys at Lancaster.

Novack has been superintendent of the Mohican Youth Camp at Loudonville. He succeeds William Balson, who was promoted to assistant OC director last April.

Ensign said Novack, a native of Lorain, has a master's degree in sociology and an extensive background in juvenile rehabilitation and corrections.

He served as group supervisor in the Lorain County Detention Home, probation officer for the Lorain court and director of the detention home before joining the youth commission in 1967.

He will be paid $15,600 a year as superintendent of the 114-year-old Fairfield School for Boys.

Daybook of America 1771-1871-1971

By CLARK KINNAIRD

No. 96 There is no end of controversy over bona fides of the man long regarded as the greatest writer in the English language, if not in any language, who presumably knew "little Latin and less Greek."

William Benton's Encyclopedia Britannica says, carefully, "The notion that Shakespeare's plays were not actually written by William Shakespeare of Stratford-on-Avon has been the subject of scores of books and is regarded by many as at least an interesting possibility. The source of the confusion over the authorship of the plays lies in the disparity between the greatness of Shakespeare's literary achievement... and his humble origin, the supposed inadequacy of his education, and the obscurity and ordinariness of his whole life."

Daguerreotype of Delia Salter Bacon, taken 1853, from The Nymph and Other Maniacs, by Irving Wallace (published by Simon & Schuster, New York).

Parentalistically, this line of logic has not been followed so prolifically to authorship of books of the Old and New Testaments.

The small town glover's son, aged eighteen, married Anne Hathaway, aged twenty-six, some six months before birth of her son, and subsequently departed alone (allegedly to escape punishment as a poacher on a private estate) to discover a career at London as actor. It was to be made to appear incredible, beginning exactly two centuries ago.

that he would have been capable of the authorship of Hamlet, Macbeth, Othello, Merry Wives of Windsor, and other sources of thousands of phrases in usage in Britain and the colonies a century after his death.

The first dissent to Shakespearean genius "was heard in 1771, when Herbert Lawrence, a surgeon and friend of David Garrick, issued a book entitled The Life and Adventure of Common Sense: An Historical Allergy," to quote Irving Wallace. Mr. Wallace has a vivid sketch in his book, The Nymph and Other Maniacs, of Delia Salter Bacon (1811-1895), who opened the floodgates of speculation. Lawrence contended Shakespeare had plagiarized much of "his" best writing. Delia Bacon, spinster New England teacher, self-assured "a vulgar, illiterate deer-poacher..."

couldn't have composed great dramas, decided that a lowly actor's name had been appropriated to protect identities of the authors. She divined the secret collaborators were Sir Francis Bacon, Walter Raleigh, Edmund Spenser, and other "high-born wits and poets." Following publication of The Philosophy and the Plays of William Shakespeare Unfolded by Delia Bacon, in 1857, came dozens of books "proving" the plays were really written by still others.

ASK ABOUT OUR CHRISTMAS LAY-AWAY PLAN

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Day after day he is there, moving silently about the modest room or slumped in uneasy sleep, that he may be near his frail, beloved Harriet.

It is the final scene of perhaps the tenderest, most enduring romance known to Washington, this vigil of John McCormack's.

In a sense, it is over already, for the doctors say his dying wife, while conscious, has slipped beyond the point of knowing him.

For 51 years they have been together, years which brought him unusual tumult and triumph in a profession noted for rending men from their mates. Yet there was seldom an evening in which Speaker and Mrs. John William McCormack dined separately, and never a night in which they slept apart.

Now he is resolute that they shall not be apart at the end, dismissing the offers of nurses or friends to take up the watch and free him for a time from the antiseptic walls of Providence Hospital.

"This is not a sacrifice," he has said, his gaunt frame draped over a leather armchair beneath the fifth-floor window. "And it is not a duty. I want to be with Harriet, and I will be."

Rarely does he venture even into the outside corridor. He had a door cut between his room and Harriet's so that he could hear her and be at her side more quickly. Other than that, the facilities offer no special privilege, no extra space.

Save for an occasional visitor—they have no children—McCormack plays out these twilight moments alone and with consummate simplicity.

Upon returning to his room, he often drops to his knees beneath the portrait of Jesus of Gethsemane, his white mane tumbling forward over his prayerful face. He is a devout Roman Catholic, once decorated by the Pope. Still, the gesture might seem odd to those more familiar with his rough and tumble reputation, his closed-door, close-crony politics, his penchant for poker and cigar smoke.

Change Of Tactics Planned In Venereal Disease Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Giving up on trying to stop the cause of the problem, the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association has decided to attack venereal disease with a public campaign encouraging use of prophylactics.

Dr. Lloyd Parks, dean of pharmacy at Ohio State University, said Wednesday V.D. can be prevented by abstinence or use of prophylactic procedures and devices.

"The plain fact of life is that abstinence just isn't happening," Parks said.

"We're certainly not asking anyone to flout the law," Parks said, but "we are thoroughly convinced that only an open and frank confrontation of the problem can begin to stem the spread of venereal disease."

George Sides, chief of the Ohio Health Department V.D. unit, said gonorrhea is now "pandemic" in Ohio. Its incidence has doubled in this state over the past two years, he said, with most cases found in people between 16 and 25 years old.

If left untreated, gonorrhea and syphilis can lead to crippling, nervous disorders and even death.

An added problem of gonorrhea is that in many cases, particularly among women, no symptoms appear. These asymptomatic carriers can infect other persons unknowingly.

Both gonorrhea and syphilis can be treated with penicillin, but Parks said some strains of gonorrhea have become increasingly resistant to the drug.

Sentence Woman To Life Term

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Mason, 44, of Cleveland has been sentenced to life in the Ohio Reformatory for Women for the shooting death of Miss Annie Goodson, 18, of Cleveland.

A Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Jury Wednesday found Mrs. Mason guilty of first-degree murder in the Rawlings Junior High playground shooting on Aug. 10, 1970.

3 Officers Fired In Carty Case

ATLANTA (AP) — Three policemen accused of beating Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty were fired early today after a 7½-hour Aldermanic police committee hearing.

The committee found the officers guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and dismissed them. The three, J.R. McEarchern, L.D. Smith and C.E. Turner, were accused of assaulting Carty and his brother-in-law, Carlos Ramirez, in a fracas Aug. 24.

Irish Militant Chief Barred From Entry

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Immigration officials called a special inquiry today to decide whether Joe Cahill, head of the militant provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army, will be allowed to enter the United States.

Cahill was denied immediate entrance when he arrived at Kennedy Airport Wednesday night. Immigration authorities said the State Department had ordered his visa canceled.

The fiery 51-year-old leader, who had planned a four-week tour of U.S. cities to raise money for guns and ammunition, spent the night at an immigration detention center in Manhattan.

A hearing was set before a special inquiry officer of the Immigration and Naturalization Service to determine whether Cahill could remain or would have to return to Ireland.

Cahill is wanted for questioning in Northern Ireland but a spokesman for the British Embassy in Washington said it would not seek his extradition since he is not charged with any specific crime under British law.

A spokesman for the Northern Irish Aid Society, the group sponsoring the tour, said in New York that Cahill's passport was in order and his visa was valid.

"We feel we'll have to fight this in court," he said.

Cahill arrived aboard an Irish International Airlines flight from Dublin and was scheduled to hold an 8 p.m. news conference. Instead, Port Authority supervisor Albert Weiss announced that Cahill had been temporarily barred.

As head of the "provisionals," Cahill leads a wing of the outlawed IRA that advocates open warfare with British troops in Northern Ireland. The British Army lists him as its most wanted man in Ulster.

Despite this status, Cahill managed to hold a news conference in Belfast in mid-August to announce plans for a "rebel" government.

By the end of 1971, an estimated 3.7 million gas lights will be burning across the country.

Lynch And Heath Eye Irish Revolt

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath will meet Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic on Monday and Tuesday and will ask him to help stop terrorists of the Irish Republican Army from crossing into Northern Ireland, informed sources said today.

Lynch in turn is expected to ask Heath to do something about British troops crossing the Irish border.

The meeting, announced Wednesday, had been set for October. It was moved up after a British patrol crossed into the republic last week and one of its soldiers was killed. Shots were fired at British soldiers Wednesday from the republic's side of the 260-mile border, but no one was hit.

Irish Militant Chief Barred From Entry

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Immigration officials called a special inquiry today to decide whether Joe Cahill, head of the militant provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army, will be allowed to enter the United States.

Cahill was denied immediate entrance when he arrived at Kennedy Airport Wednesday night. Immigration authorities said the State Department had ordered his visa canceled.

The fiery 51-year-old leader, who had planned a four-week tour of U.S. cities to raise money for guns and ammunition, spent the night at an immigration detention center in Manhattan.

A hearing was set before a special inquiry officer of the Immigration and Naturalization Service to determine whether Cahill could remain or would have to return to Ireland.

Cahill is wanted for questioning in Northern Ireland but a spokesman for the British Embassy in Washington said it would not seek his extradition since he is not charged with any specific crime under British law.

A spokesman for the Northern Irish Aid Society, the group sponsoring the tour, said in New York that Cahill's passport was in order and his visa was valid.

"We feel we'll have to fight this in court," he said.

Cahill arrived aboard an Irish International Airlines flight from Dublin and was scheduled to hold an 8 p.m. news conference. Instead, Port Authority supervisor Albert Weiss announced that Cahill had been temporarily barred.

As head of the "provisionals," Cahill leads a wing of the outlawed IRA that advocates open warfare with British troops in Northern Ireland. The British Army lists him as its most wanted man in Ulster.

Despite this status, Cahill managed to hold a news conference in Belfast in mid-August to announce plans for a "rebel" government.

By the end of 1971, an estimated 3.7 million gas lights will be burning across the country.

Lynch And Heath Eye Irish Revolt

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath will meet Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic on Monday and Tuesday and will ask him to help stop terrorists of the Irish Republican Army from crossing into Northern Ireland, informed sources said today.

Lynch in turn is expected to ask Heath to do something about British troops crossing the Irish border.

The meeting, announced Wednesday, had been set for October. It was moved up after a British patrol crossed into the republic last week and one of its soldiers was killed. Shots were fired at British soldiers Wednesday from the republic's side of the 260-mile border, but no one was hit.

Change Of Tactics Planned In Venereal Disease Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Giving up on trying to stop the cause of the problem, the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association has decided to attack venereal disease with a public campaign encouraging use of prophylactics.

Dr. Lloyd Parks, dean of pharmacy at Ohio State University, said Wednesday V.D. can be prevented by abstinence or use of prophylactic procedures and devices.

"The plain fact of life is that abstinence just isn't happening," Parks said.

That leaves prophylactics. And the Venereal Disease Awareness Month campaign launched by the association Wednesday will include encouraging pharmacists to display advertisements in Ohio newspapers by a major manufacturer of prophylactics.

The campaign could cause legal problems for the association.

Some cities ban such displays and ads, including Columbus, where City Prosecutor Thomas Erlenbach said he would prosecute any complaints brought to his office.

"We're certainly not asking anyone to flout the law," Parks said, but "we are thoroughly convinced that only an open and frank confrontation of the problem can begin to stem the spread of venereal disease."

George Sides, chief of the Ohio Health Department V.D. unit, said gonorrhea is now "pandemic" in Ohio. Its incidence has doubled in this state over the past two years, he said, with most cases found in people between 16 and 25 years old.

If left untreated, gonorrhea and syphilis can lead to crippling, nervous disorders and even death.

An added problem of gonorrhea is that in many cases, particularly among women, no symptoms appear. These asymptomatic carriers can infect other persons unknowingly.

Both gonorrhea and syphilis can be treated with penicillin, but Parks said some strains of gonorrhea have become increasingly resistant to the drug.

He said the U.S. Food and Drug Administration is considering releasing a new drug, spectinomycin, which reportedly could cure 90 per cent of gonorrhea cases with one shot.

Sentence Woman To Life Term

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Mason, 44, of Cleveland has been sentenced to life in the Ohio Reformatory for Women for the shooting death of Miss Annie Goodson, 18, of Cleveland.

A Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Jury Wednesday found Mrs. Mason guilty of first-degree murder in the Rawlings Junior High playground shooting on Aug. 10, 1970.

Miss Goodson had been shot in the head in front of her two sisters, Angela, 6, and Terri, 8, — both of whom were witnesses for the state.

3 Officers Fired In Carty Case

ATLANTA (AP) — Three policemen accused of beating Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty were fired early today after a 7½-hour Aldermanic police committee hearing.

The committee found the officers guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and dismissed them. The three, J.R. McEarchern, L.D. Smith and C.E. Turner, were accused of assaulting Carty and his brother-in-law, Carlos Ramirez, in a fracas Aug. 24.

"We knew we were fired before we went there," Turner told radio station WSB. "It was a railroad job from the word go."

"I believe we were done wrong," Smith said.

7 Declared Hardship NBA Draft Possibles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tom Payne, 7-foot-2 center who had been expected to star for the University of Kentucky basketball team next season, will play the game as a professional instead.

Payne was one of six players declared eligible by the National Basketball Association Wednesday for the NBA's supplementary draft Sept. 10 of players declared hardship cases.

The other five players, announced by commissioner Walter Kennedy of the NBA, were: 6-10 Cyril Baptiste, Creighton University; 6-9 Ed Owens of Weber State who played two seasons ago for Southern Utah; 6-5 Nate Williams, Utah State star; 6-4 Philip Chenier of California and 6-3 Joseph Hammond, who has been playing in the Eastern pro League. Hammond had to apply for the supplementary draft because his class could not graduate until 1972 if he had gone to college.

Payne said he had applied because his wife, Sue, had been in poor health and that she and their 16-month-old daughter, Crystal, often had deprived themselves while he was in school.

Kennedy declined to reveal how many players had applied to be listed as a "hardship case" and also if any had been turned down.

The Greensboro, N.C. Daily News reported that Tom McMillen, heralded 6-11 sophomore at the University of Maryland, had applied, but had been turned down.

Officials at Maryland where McMillen starred as a frosh last season, were not available for comment.

The Greensboro Daily News story also said that McMillen had applied to the rival American Basketball Association to be listed in the hardship category.

Matheson Is Traded By Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The trade of Bob Matheson to the Miami Dolphins is apparently the starting point the Cleveland Browns were looking for in their quest for another offensive tackle or a wide receiver.

Head coach Nick Skorich said Wednesday that he has already talked with several teams about the possibility of a deal and that he will use the No. 2 draft choice for 1972 acquired from Miami for Matheson as a negotiating point.

Matheson, a middle linebacker, was drafted No. 1 out of Duke University in 1967, but never fulfilled the Browns hopes at the position and was finally dealt away Wednesday.

His trade virtually assures a spot on the roster for rookie Rick Kingree, a 14th round pick from Tulane, who goes a chunky 235 pounds over a 6-foot-1 frame. He will backup seven-year veteran Dale Lindsey.

Kingree captained the Tulane team the past two years and has impressed Browns coaches in the exhibition season with his play both at the middle spot and on the specialty teams.

Skorich said Kingree would see considerable action in the next two games to help him prepare for the regular season. Veteran quarterback Bill Nelsen also will see a lot of action, after having played second fiddle to second-year man Mike Phipps to date.

"I had them mixed up real well tonight," Mike Cuellar was saying. Everyone assumed he was talking about Boston's hitters but the Baltimore left-hander was referring to his own pitches.

"I had a good fast ball, a good curve and a good change-up. The curve was really good," Cuellar said after he baffled the Red Sox batters with a six-hitter and coasted to an 8-2 victory Wednesday night. It was his first ever in Boston's cozy Fenway Park, making him a winner in every American League stadium. Cuellar says he's pretty sure he's won in every National League park, too—if you don't count San Diego and Montreal, which didn't come into the majors until 1969, the year Cuellar came to Baltimore after four seasons in Houston.

OHSAA Utilizes Grid Ratings

Plans for a 1971 high school football rating system were outlined by the Ohio High School Athletic Association at an orientation meeting Wednesday in Columbus.

The rating system was explained to 39 sportswriters who will be responsible for reporting game results to National Scanning Inc., Columbus, who will do the computing and optical scanning for the system.

The working of the rating system was explained by Dr. Harold A. Meyer, commissioner of the OHSAA, Jack Harbin, developer of the system, and Tom Oleska of National Scanning.

Harbin, who is in the cash register business in Willowick and a professional horse handicapper, has been using the system with Cleveland schools for seven years with a great deal of success.

THE system is based solely on a team's record without regard to game scores. It is based on how successful a team is against its opponent and how successful these opponents turn out to be.

A team is awarded points for each game it wins or ties and gains points each time a defeated opponent wins or ties.

One point is earned for defeating or tying a Class A school, two points for defeating or tying a Class AA school, three points for defeating or tying a Class AAA school (up to 500 male students), four points for defeating or tying a Class AAA school (between 501 and 750 male students) and five points for defeating or tying a Class AAA school (over 750 male students).

The state will be divided into four regions, with an equal number of schools in each region. Each class school will be rated in its region and its own class only. At the conclusion of the season each region will be evaluated to determine the state champion in each class.

In February, 1970, the Ohio High School Coaches Association proposed a playoff for the state championship in each class.

School principals were surveyed but the proposal was not favored. The OHSAA then proposed the Harbin system which was to determine a champion without a playoff.

INDIVIDUAL coaches were to report the scores of all games but the OHSAA did not get 100 per cent cooperation, which is needed to make the system work, and the results were not accurate.

The OHSAA then proposed using sportswriters to report the results which will happen in the 1971 season.

"We feel the playoff idea was rejected by the school officials because we left too many questions unanswered," Dr. Meyer stated.

"This system should provide the information needed," Meyer continued, "and we hope it will lead to a playoff to determine a true state champion in each class."

"We would like to see the playoffs come into being as football is the only high school sport which does not utilize playoffs to determine the top teams in the state," Dr. Meyer stated.

Bernice Abbot Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bernice Abbot shot past the pack in the stretch to capture the featured race at Scioto Downs Wednesday night and post her first win in 23 starts this season.

The winner, off at 16-1, paid $36.40, $10.60 and $5.60. Belle H. returned $3.80 and $3.20 for second and Queenie H. was worth $5 for show.

The 4-1 daily double combination of Brother Boy and As Usual paid $23.60, and the 3-7 quinella $36.

A crowd of 4,159 wagered $198,014.

GRID SYSTEM — Thirty-nine sportswriters gather in Columbus to hear the proposed Harbin football rating system explained. The Ohio High School Athletic Association plans to give the system a try this season in an effort to determine state champions in all classes.

Patriots Put Jim Plunkett Before Fans As New Star

By ALEX SCAHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New England Patriots will display their bright new star before the house fans in their new showcase Sunday, hoping it will be the start of a long and happy relationship.

Jim Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy winner from Stanford on whom the Patriots spent the top pick in last year's National Football League draft—and a bundle of money—has been named by New England Coach John Mazur to start at quarterback against the Atlanta Falcons in a preseason game in new Schaeffer Stadium in Foxboro, Mass., Sunday.

Plunkett, used in relief of veteran Mike Taliaferro in the Patriots' exhibitions to date, drew rave reviews for his performance against Los Angeles in New England's 31-21 loss last Sunday.

"I think he'll be a star for sure," declared Deacon Jones, the Rams' premier defensive end. "Make that a super-star."

Plunkett came off the bench late in the first half and completed 9 of 21 passes for 99 yards. He also carried the ball three times for 29 yards, including a 10-yard quarterback keeper for a touchdown.

"I think a lot of him," said Ram coach Tommy Prothro, who saw Plunkett as a collegian when he was coaching at UCLA and Plunkett was quarterbacking for Stanford.

"He has an awfully quick arm and sees open receivers. He can run with the ball, too, and could give the pros a whole new defensive problem," Prothro commented.

Mazur—and the 53,000 fans expected at Foxboro Sunday—are hoping so.

Other pro teams were busy snuffling their rosters as the regular season nears.

Donohue Favored In California

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A nationwide panel of motor-sports writers and broadcasters, votes pole-sitter Mark Donohue the odds-on choice to win Sunday's $721,000 California 500.

The 34-year-old Media, Pa., driver, who set a record qualifying pace of 185.00 miles per hour in the time trials, was the choice of 25 of the 78 writers and broadcasters who participated in the poll.

Donohue and the other 32 starters were allowed on the 2.5 mile Ontario Motor Speedway today for the first time since the weekend qualifying runs.

It was "carburetion" day at the track, a six hour period during which drivers and crews could shake down new engines and generally come up with some ideas about how their machines will perform on race day.

After the carburetion runs, the cars will be garaged again until they are rolled out for track for Sunday's 11 a.m. (PDT) start.

The Cal 500 is the third and final "jewel" in USAC's triple crown of championship auto racing. Donohue, aside from his pole-winning effort, was the logical choice of the panel because of his performance in the other two 500 milers.

He led the Indianapolis 500 for 66 laps and was running away from the field when his McLaren M16 was sidelined with a gear failure.

He won the second "jewel," the Schaefer 500 at Pocono, Pa., and comes into the Cal 500 fresh from victory in a 200-miler at Milwaukee.

Cincinnati Royals Cut Roster Down

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals have trimmed their roster to 18 players by placing one veteran and two 1971 draftees on waivers.

They have to reduce the figure to 12 by their opening National Basketball Association game Oct. 12 but they said Wednesday they don't intend to make any more cuts until after an intra-squad game on Sept. 19.

Waived Wednesday were forward Willie Williams; fifth-round draft choice Ty Marionaux, a 7-foot center from Loyola of New Orleans; and 6-foot-8 forward Frank Fitzgerald, Cincinnati's eight round draft choice from Boston College.

West And Haines Tie As Top Amateurs

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Martin West III and George Haines come from different worlds but they cashed the same prize today—the 71st annual National Amateur Golf Championship.

The 23-year-old West held a two stroke lead over the 28-year-old Haines as they started the second of the four day, 72 hole tournament. West shot a first round four under par 67 and Haines a 69 over the 6,872-yard par 71 Wilmington Country Club Course Wednesday.

Tigers Edge London In Scrimmage

London scored on its first offensive series but then fell victim to a stubborn Circleville defense as the Tigers came up with a 2-1 win over the Red Raiders in a controlled scrimmage game Thursday on the Red and Black turf.

After the Red Raiders had marched for a score Circleville came back with touchdowns on passes from Dave Truex to Don Valentine and Dave Webb.

The Tiger defense then went to work and kept the London offense in check the rest of the way.

"Our defense was much improved over last week," Tiger coach Denny Williams stated, "but our running game still needs some work."

"We still have a lot of work to do between now and Sept. 10," Williams continued, "but we'll be ready for Grove City when the opening whistle blows."

Speedy Crown Wins Hambletonian Race

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Howard Beissinger trained Speedy Crown lightly last year "to manner and educate him." The bay son of Speedy Scot learned his lessons well.

Speedy Crown is the new champion of the 3-year-old trotters, winner of the Hambletonian classic in straight heats of 1:57 2-5 and 1:59 1-5.

Beissinger did not nominate the foal of Missile Toe for the Springfield, Ill., and Indianapolis, Ind., stakes because the colt was the mare's first offspring and "I didn't expect him to turn out this well—I didn't want to splurge."

The colt was bred by Mrs. Beissinger at the family's Hambleton, Ohio, farm. His sire, Speedy Scot, won the 1963 Hambletonian.

Bob Wynn Wins Ohio Open Clash

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Open golf champion Bob Wynn, $1,000 richer, didn't mind missing a practice round today for the Greater Hartford Open.

"That's all right. I kinda like the money," said Wynn, after shooting rounds of 72 and 70 Wednesday for a 10-under-par 276 in the Ohio Open.

Wynn, 31-year-old PGA tour regular from Fairborn, barely withstood a challenge from Perryburg pro Cliff Cook. Cook closed with rounds of 70 and 68 for a 72-hole total of 277 over the 6,505-yard Westfield Country Club course.

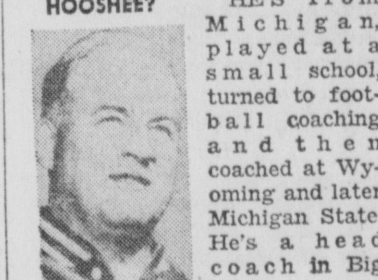

Cook, playing head-to-head against Wynn in both rounds, actually led by one stroke during the final 18 holes as he sought to regain the title he won in 1969. Wynn won last year.

Don Albert, a salesman from Columbus, was the low amateur and finished third with 68 and 70 rounds for 280.

Frank Wharton of Akron, a former PGA tourist, was next at 281. The Fairlawn Country Club pro shot 70 and 71 for 281. In a three way tie for fifth place were host pro Bernie Allemen, Rex Wilsen of Hudson and Walker Inman Jr. of Columbus at 284. Allemen shot 72 and 73, Wilson 69 and 72 and Inman 72 and 69.

Baltimore Turns Back Boston, 8-2

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I had them mixed up real well tonight," Mike Cuellar was saying. Everyone assumed he was talking about Boston's hitters but the Baltimore left-hander was referring to his own pitches.

"I had a good fast ball, a good curve and a good change-up. The curve was really good," Cuellar said after he baffled the Red Sox batters with a six-hitter and coasted to an 8-2 victory Wednesday night. It was his first ever in Boston's cozy Fenway Park, making him a winner in every American League stadium. Cuellar says he's pretty sure he's won in every National League park, too—if you don't count San Diego and Montreal, which didn't come into the majors until 1969, the year Cuellar came to Baltimore after four seasons in Houston.

In Wednesday night's other American League action, the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 2-0 in 11 innings, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 3-2, Detroit nipped Cleveland 4-3, Oakland topped California 7-0 and, in an afternoon game, Washington zipped the New York Yankees 2-0.

Left-handers, intimidated by the "Green Monster," the short left field wall, generally fare poorly at Fenway. And Cuellar was no exception. But, he recalled, "When I came out here tonight, I said to myself: 'Well, I've got to win one here sometime!'"

He did it to tie teammate Pat Dobson with 17 victories. And he did it with a baffling assortment of pitches that had the Sox limited three hits—including Carl Yastrzemski's run-scoring single—through eight innings before they nicked him for three more and their other run in the ninth. Merv Rettenmund had Ray Culp thinking about the wall. The Baltimore outfielder knocked the Boston starter out of the game with a three-run homer over it in the second inning, his 11th of the year.

The Orioles had already scored twice in the first and two other times in the second before Rettenmund's blast tucked the win away.

Wilbur Wood, the White Sox' knuckleballing reliever-turned-starter, and Bert Blyleven duelled through nine scoreless innings but neither was around when the game ended. Carlos May's pop-fly single and Walt Williams' sacrifice fly off Bob Gebhardt of the Twins won it for Bart Johnson. It was a reversal of Tuesday's outcome when Gebhardt beat Johnson.

Ellie Rodriguez slammed a double off Royals reliever Tom Burgmeier in the bottom of the ninth and scampered home on Bob Heise's single to center field with two away for the Brewers' victory. Ike Brown, playing in place of Detroit's slugging Willie Horton, picked up his 26th hit of the season—but it was his seventh homer, a three-run shot that barely cleared the right field fence to help Les Cain defeat the Indians.

Chuck Dobson of the A's scattered seven Angels hits for his 15th victory and his first shut-out of the season and Reggie Jackson cracked his 26th homer of the season as pennant-bound Oakland won for the 50th time on the road, only four short of the American League record set by New York in 1939.

Bill Gogolewski, twirled a four-hitter for the Senators, who beat the Yanks for the 10th time in 15 games this season, and Tom McCraw tripled home the only run he needed in the first inning. Dick Billings singled home Washington's other run in the ninth.

7 Declared Hardship NBA Draft Possibles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Payne, 7-foot-2 center who had been expected to star for the University of Kentucky basketball team next season, will play the game as a professional instead.

Payne was one of six players declared eligible by the National Basketball Association Wednesday for the NBA's supplementary draft Sept. 10 of players declared hardship cases.

The other five players, announced by commissioner Walter Kennedy of the NBA, were: 10 Cyril Baptiste, Creighton University; 6-9 Ed Owens of Weber State who played two seasons ago for Southern Utah; 6-5 Nate Williams, Utah State star; 6-4 Philip Chenier of California and 6-3 Joseph Hammond, who has been playing in the Eastern pro League. Hammond had to apply for the supplementary draft because his class could not graduate until 1972 if he had gone to college.

Payne said he had applied because his wife, Sue, had been in poor health and that she and their 16-month-old daughter, Crystal, often had deprived themselves while he was in school.

Kennedy declined to reveal how many players had applied to be listed as a "hardship case" and also if any had been turned down.

The Greensboro, N.C. Daily News reported that Tom McMillen, heralded 6-11 sophomore at the University of Maryland, had applied, but had been turned down.

Officials at Maryland where McMillen starred as a frosh last season, were not available for comment.

The Greensboro Daily News story also said that McMillen had applied to the rival American Basketball Association to be listed in the hardship category.

Matheson Is Traded By Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The trade of Bob Matheson to the Miami Dolphins is apparently the starting point the Cleveland Browns were looking for in their quest for another offensive tackle or a wide receiver.

Head coach Nick Skorich said Wednesday that he has already talked with several teams about the possibility of a deal and that he will use the No. 2 draft choice for 1972 acquired from Miami for Matheson as a negotiating point.

Matheson, a middle linebacker, was drafted No. 1 out of Duke University in 1967, but never fulfilled the Browns hopes at the position and was finally dealt away Wednesday.

He traded virtually assures a spot on the roster for rookie Rick Kingree, a 14th round pick from Tulane, who goes a chunky 235 pounds over a 6-foot-1 frame. He will backup seven-year veteran Dale Lindsey.

Kingree captained the Tulane team the past two years and has impressed Browns coaches in the exhibition season with his play both at the middle spot and on the specialty teams.

Skorich said Kingree would see considerable action in the next two games to help him prepare for the regular season. Veteran quarterback Bill Nelsen also will see a lot of action, after having played second fiddle to second-year man Mike Phipps to date.

OHSAA Utilizes Grid Ratings

Plans for a 1971 high school football rating system were outlined by the Ohio High School Athletic Association at an orientation meeting Wednesday in Columbus.

The rating system was explained to 39 sportswriters who will be responsible for reporting game results to National Scanning Inc., Columbus, who will do the computing and optical scanning for the system.

The working of the rating system was explained by Dr. Harold A. Meyer, commissioner of the OHSAA, Jack Harbin, developer of the system, and Tom Oleska of National Scanning.

Harbin, who is in the cash register business in Willowick and a professional horse handicapper, has been using the system with Cleveland schools for seven years with a great deal of success.

THE system is based solely on a team's record without regard to game scores. It is based on how successful a team is against its opponent and how successful these opponents turn out to be.

A team is awarded points for each game it wins or ties and gains points each time a defeated opponent wins or ties.

One point is earned for defeating or tying a Class A school, two points for defeating or tying a Class AA school, three points for defeating or tying a Class AAA school (up to 500 male students), four points for defeating or tying a Class AAA school (between 501 and 750 male students) and five points for defeating or tying a Class AAA school (over 750 male students).

The state will be divided into four regions, with an equal number of schools in each region. Each class school will be rated in its region and its own class only. At the conclusion of the season each region will be evaluated to determine the state champion in each class.

In February, 1970, the Ohio High School Coaches Association proposed a playoff for the state championship in each class.

School principals were surveyed but the proposal was not favorable. The OHSAA then proposed the Harbin system which was to determine a champion without a playoff.

INDIVIDUAL coaches were to report the scores of all games but the OHSAA did not get 100 per cent cooperation, which is needed to make the system work, and the results were not accurate.

The OHSAA then proposed using sportswriters to report the results which will happen in the 1971 season.

"We feel the playoff idea was rejected by the school officials because we left too many questions unanswered," Dr. Meyer stated.

"This system should provide the information needed," Meyer continued, "and we hope it will lead to a playoff to determine a true state champion in each class."

"We would like to see the playoffs come into being as football is the only high school sport which does not utilize playoffs to determine the top teams in the state," Dr. Meyer stated.

Bernice Abbot Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bernice Abbot shot past the pack in the stretch to capture the featured race at Scioto Downs Wednesday night and post her first win in 23 starts this season.

The winner, off at 16-1, paid $36.40, $10.60 and $5.60. Belle H. returned $3.80 and $3.20 for second and Queenie H. was worth $5 for show.

The 4-1 daily double combination of Brother Boy and As Usual paid $23.60, and the 3-7 quinella $36.

A crowd of 4,139 wagered $198,014.

GRID SYSTEM — Thirty-nine sportswriters gather in Columbus to hear the proposed Harbin football rating system explained. The Ohio High School Athletic Association plans to give the system a try this season in an effort to determine state champions in all classes.

Patriots Put Jim Plunkett Before Fans As New Star

By ALEX SCAHARE

Associated Press Sports Writer

The New England Patriots will display their bright new star before the house fans in their new showcase Sunday, hoping it will be the start of a long and happy relationship.

Jim Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy winner from Stanford on whom the Patriots spent the top pick in last year's National Football League draft—and a bundle of money—has been named by New England Coach John Mazur to start at quarterback against the Atlanta Falcons in a preseason game in new Schaeffer Stadium in Foxboro, Mass., Sunday.

Plunkett, used in relief of veteran Mike Taliaferro in the Patriots' exhibitions to date, drew rave reviews for his performance against Los Angeles in New England's 31-21 loss last Sunday.

"I think he'll be a star for sure," declared Deacon Jones, the Rams' premier defensive end. "Make that a super-star."

Plunkett came off the bench late in the first half and completed 9 of 21 passes for 99 yards. He also carried the ball three times for 29 yards, including a 10-yard quarterback keeper for a touchdown.

"I think a lot of him," said Ram coach Tommy Prothro, who saw Plunkett as a collegian when he was coaching on the UCLA and Plunkett was quarterbacking for Stanford.

"He has an awfully quick arm and sees open receivers. He can run with the ball, too, and could give the pros a whole new defensive problem," Prothro commented.

Mazur—and the 53,000 fans expected at Foxboro Sunday—are hoping so.

Other pro teams were busy snuffing their rosters as the regular season nears.

Cincinnati Royals Cut Roster Down

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals have trimmed their roster to 18 players by placing one veteran and two 1971 draftees on waivers.

They have to reduce the figure to 12 by their opening National Basketball Association game Oct. 12 but they said Wednesday they don't intend to make any more cuts until after an intrasquad game on Sept. 19.

Waived Wednesday were forward Willie Williams; fifth round draft choice Ty Marion; and a 7-foot center from Loyola of New Orleans; and 6-foot-8 forward Frank Fitzgerald. Cincinnati's eight round draft choice from Boston College.

Donohue Favored In California

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A nationwide panel of motor-sports writers and broadcasters, votes pole-sitter Mark Donohue the odds-on choice to win Sunday's $721,000 California 500.

The 34-year-old Media, Pa., driver, who set a record qualifying pace of 185.004 miles per hour in the time trials, was the choice of 25 of the 78 writers and broadcasters who participated in the poll.

Donohue and the other 32 starters were allowed on the 2.5 mile Ontario Motor Speedway today for the first time since the weekend qualifying runs.

It was "carburetion" day at the track, a six hour period during which drivers and crews could shake down new engines and generally come up with some ideas about how their machines will perform on race day.

After the carburetion runs, the cars will be garaged again until they are rolled onto the track for Sunday's 11 a.m. (PDT) start.

The Cal 500 is the third and final "jewel" in USAC's triple crown of championship auto racing. Donohue, aside from his pole-winning effort, was the logical choice of the panel because of his performance in the other two 500 milers.

He led the Indianapolis 500 for 66 laps and was running away from the field when his McLaren M16 was sidelined with a gear failure.

He won the second "jewel," the Schaefer 500 at Pocono, Pa., and comes into the Cal 500 fresh from victory in a 200-miler at Milwaukee.

West And Haines Tie As Top Amateurs

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Martin West III and George Haines come from different worlds but they cashed the same prize today—the 71st annual National Amateur Golf Championship.

The 23-year-old West held a two stroke lead over the 28-year-old Haines as they started the second of the four day, 72 hole tournament. West shot a first round four under par 67 and Haines a 69 over the 6,872-yard par 71 Wilmington Country Club Course Wednesday.

Tigers Edge London In Scrimmage

London scored on its first offensive series but then fell victim to a stubborn Circleville defense as the Tigers came up with a 2-1 win over the Red Raiders in a controlled scrimmage game Thursday on the Red and Black turf.

After the Red Raiders had marched for a score Circleville came back with touchdowns on passes from Dave Truex to Don Valentine and Dave Webb.

The Tiger defense then went to work and kept the London offense in check the rest of the way.

"Our defense was much improved over last week," Tiger coach Denny Williams stated, "but our running game still needs some work."

"We still have a lot of work to do between now and Sept. 10," Williams continued, "but we'll be ready for Grove City when the opening whistle blows."

Speedy Crown Wins Hambletonian Race

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Howard Beissinger trained Speedy Crown lightly last year "to manner and educate him." The bay son of Speedy Scot learned his lessons well.

Speedy Crown is the new champion of the 3-year-old trotters, winner of the Hambletonian classic in straight heats of 1:57 2-5 and 1:59 1-5.

Beissinger did not nominate the foal of Missile Toe for the Springfield, Ill., and Indianapolis, Ind., stakes because the colt was the mare's first offspring and "I didn't expect him to turn out this well—I didn't want to splurge."

The colt was bred by Mrs. Beissinger at the family's Hamilton, Ohio, farm. His sire, Speedy Scot, won the 1963 Hambletonian.

Bob Wynn Wins Ohio Open Clash

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Open golf champion Bob Wynn, $1,000 richer, didn't mind missing a practice round today for the Greater Hartford Open.

"That's all right. I kinda like the money," said Wynn, after shooting rounds of 72 and 70 Wednesday for a 10-under-par 276 in the Ohio Open.

Wynn, 31-year-old PGA tour regular from Fairborn, barely withstood a challenge from Perryburg pro Cliff Cook. Cook closed with rounds of 70 and 68 for a 72-hole total of 277 over the 6,505-yard Westfield Country Club course.

Cook, playing head-to-head against Wynn in both rounds, actually led by one stroke during the final 18 holes as he sought to regain the title he won in 1969. Wynn won last year.

Don Albert, a salesman from Columbus, was the low amateur and finished third with 68 and 70 rounds for 280.

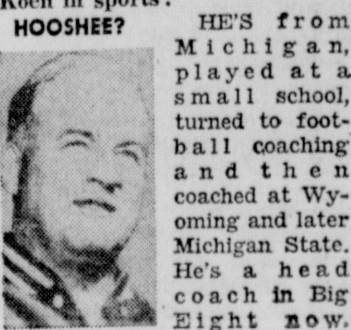

Frank Wharton of Akron, a former PGA tourist, was next at 281. The Fairlawn Country Club pro shot 70 and 71 for 281.

In a three way tie for fifth place were host pro Bernie Allemen, Rex Wilsen of Hudson and Walker Inman Jr. of Columbus at 284. Allemen shot 72 and 73, Wilson 69 and 72 and Inman 72 and 69.

Baltimore Turns Back Boston, 8-2

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer

"I had them mixed up real well tonight," Mike Cuellar was saying. Everyone assumed he was talking about Boston's hitters—but the Baltimore left-hander was referring to his own pitches.

"I had a good fast ball, a good curve and a good change-up. The curve was really good," Cuellar said after he baffled the Red Sox batters with a six-hitter and coasted to an 8-2 victory Wednesday night.

It was his first ever in Boston's cozy Fenway Park, making him a winner in every American League stadium. Cuellar says he's pretty sure he'll win in every National League park, too—if you don't count San Diego and Montreal, which didn't come into the majors until 1969, the year Cuellar came to Baltimore after four seasons in Houston.

In Wednesday night's other American League action, the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 2-0 in 11 innings, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 3-2, Detroit nipped Cleveland 4-3, Oakland topped California 7-0 and, in an afternoon game, Washington zipped the New York Yankees 2-0.

Left-hander, intimidated by the "Green Monster," the short left field wall, generally fare poorly at Fenway. And Cuellar was no exception. But, he recalled, "When I came out here tonight, I said to myself: 'Well, I've got to win one here sometime!'"

He did it to tie teammate Pat Dobson with 17 victories. And he did it with a baffling assortment of pitches that had the Sox limited three hits—including Carl Yastrzemski's run-scoring single—through eight innings before they nicked him for three more and their other run in the ninth. Merv Rettenmund had Ray Culp thinking about the wall. The Baltimore outfielder knocked the Boston starter out of the game with a three-run homer over it in the second inning, his 11th of the year.

The Orioles had already scored twice in the first and two other times in the second before Rettenmund's blast tucked the win away.

Wilbur Wood, the White Sox' knuckleballing reliever-turned-starter, and Bert Blyleven dueled through nine scoreless innings but neither was around when the game ended. Carlos May's pop-fly single and Walt Williams' sacrifice fly off Bob Gebhardt of the Twins won it for Bart Johnson. It was a reversal of Tuesday's outcome when Gebhardt beat Johnson.

Ellie Rodriguez slammed a double off Royals reliever Tom Burgmeier in the bottom of the ninth and scampered home on Bob Heise's single to center field with two away for the Brewers' victory.

Ike Brown, playing in place of Detroit's slugging Willie Horton, picked up his 26th hit of the season—but it was his seventh homer, a three-run shot that barely cleared the right field fence to help Les Cain defeat the Indians.

Chuck Dobson of the A's scattered seven Angels hits for his 15th victory and his first shut-out of the season and Reggie Jackson cracked his 26th homer of the season as pennant-bound Oakland won for the 50th time on the road, only four short of the American League record set by New York in 1939.

Bill Gogolewski, twirled a four-hitter for the Senators, who beat the Yanks for the 10th time in 15 games this season, and Tom McCraw tripled home the only run he needed in the first inning. Dick Billings singled home Washington's only run in the ninth.

Seaver, Mets Stop Gibson, Cardinals, 7-1

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' pitching ace, had taken Bob Gibson and the Law into his own hands.

The smooth-working right-hander became the first pitcher to beat Gibson, the great St. Louis veteran, three times in one season since Vernon Law of Pittsburgh did it in 1959 by taming the Cardinals 7-1 on four hits Wednesday night.

"He wasn't the real Bob Gibson tonight," conceded Seaver. "But, he's still one of the best pitchers in baseball. I don't think I've ever seen anybody work any harder."

Despite Seaver's praise, Gibson has been erratic this season, winning only 13 and losing 12, although pitching the first no-hitter of his illustrious career. And, instead, it has been Seaver who has developed into one of the game's outstanding pitchers.

The victory was his fifth in a row and gave him a 16-8 record for the year. He also lowered his earned run average to 1.92, best in the National League, and struck out seven, increasing his league-leading total to 233.

Meanwhile, San Diego's Dave Roberts, National League runner-up in ERA, fired a five-hitter as the Padres defeated Cincinnati 3-1. Pittsburgh outslugged Philadelphia 10-7; Los Angeles walloped Houston 9-2; San Francisco blanked Atlanta 4-0; and Chicago topped Montreal 5-2 after losing the completion of a suspended game 11-2.

Seaver, the winner of the 1969

Cy Young Award as the National League's outstanding pitcher and a strong candidate again this year, has allowed only four runs in his last 54 innings of work and compiled a glittering 1.14 ERA since the All-Star break.

It was Seaver's 16th complete game and his third against Gibson and the Cardinals. "But I always manage to lose the shutout somewhere along the way," he quipped. "I give up a home run or I do something."

Wednesday, he lost it in the ninth when Ted Sizemore doubled and scored on Joe Torre's single.

But by that time, the Mets were comfortably ahead. They had belted Gibson for 11 hits and six runs in 6 2-3 innings, and added a run off Stan Williams, making his first appearance for St. Louis, in the eighth. Duffy Dyer and Ken

Boswell each drove in two Met

Roberts, San Diego's hard-working left-hander, won his 12th game with his second five-hitter in two starts against Cincinnati this season. The only run off him was unearned and came with two out in the ninth.

After Hal McRae opened the Reds' ninth with a double, Roberts retired the next two batters, but Johnny Bench was safe on an error by third baseman Gary Jesteadt and George Foster blooped a run-scoring single.

The hard-luck Roberts, who has lost 14, now has a 1.99 ERA.

Nate Colbert's RBI single in the first inning and Ollie Brown's two-run double in the top of the ninth produced the Padres' runs.

Pittsburgh's Luke Walker also turned in an outstanding pitching effort. He entered the Pirates game against Philadelphia in the fourth inning and checked the Phils on one run and two hits the rest of the way.

"I prefer to start," said Walker, who has been in Manager Danny Murtagh's doghouse. "But my name has been popping up in the bullpen lately and I don't mind the work."

He has won two games in the last three days.

Manny Sanguillen belted a two-run homer for the Pirates, who shelled four Philadelphia pitchers for 13 hits. Ron Stone and Deron Johnson each homered with one on the Phils.

Los Angeles backed Don Sutton's four-hit, 12-strikeout pitching against Houston with an eight-run uprising in the second inning. Richie Allen's two-run single keyed the big inning in which the Dodgers sent 13 batters to the plate.

John Cumberland, a former American Leaguer, pitched his second shutout for San Francisco, stopping Atlanta on four hits.

The Giants scored twice in the first inning on Tito Fuentes' single, a fielding error by left fielder Ralph Garr, Bobby Bonds' run-producing single, a throwing error by Garr and Willie McCovey's sacrifice fly.

They added two runs in the third on a double by McCovey, Alan Gallagher's RBI single, an error by catcher Earl Williams and Chris Speier's single.

Ferguson Jenkins, the National League's biggest winner, gained his 21st victory for the Cubs with a six-hitter in the regularly scheduled game against Montreal. Jenkins also drove in three runs with two homers, his third and fourth of the season. The game was suspended Tuesday with Montreal leading 8-1 after six innings.

NO COACHING FROM AUDIENCE NOW — Six of the new coaches in the National Football League are readying their squads for the openers in mid-September in a big changeover in coaching. In addition to these, Sid Gillman is back on the coaching line in San Diego after front office interlude and George Allen is the head coach at Washington, instead of Los Angeles, after a switchover. ## Roberts Overcomes Reds With 5-Hitter; Wins 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — San Diego left-hander Dave Roberts faces a new challenge now that he has achieved one of his goals for the 1971 season—dropping his earned run average below 2.00.

"I've been working to get my earned run average under 2.00 and I'd like to keep it there," Roberts said after hurling a five-hitter against the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night and helping San Diego score a 3-1 victory.

The only run off Roberts came in the ninth inning and it was unearned. The complete nine innings without an earned run lowered his ERA to 1.99, and he remains second in the National League among starters in the ERA category.

"You can't dispute the fact how good the man is when he has pitched 226 innings and has an earned run average under 2.00," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "We had an all right-handed lineup against him and here's a guy who doesn't throw any screwball and still had complete control of the game."

Roberts, 26, sailed through the first eight innings and allowed only one hit in the first, third and sixth innings. He yielded two hits in the ninth inning when the Reds tallied their run with the aid of a throwing error. He struck out five and walked only two.

"There's no question Roberts is a fine pitcher and has all the pitches," Padres Manager Preston Gomez said. "I went out to talk to him in the ninth inning, to slow him down because he's high strung. I wanted to calm him, but I intended to go all the way with him."

The game was Roberts' 11th complete effort of the year and the victory upped his record to 12-14.

"To the best of my recollection, I have been shut out four times this season and have lost three 2-1 decisions," Roberts said. "But being involved in close games this year tends to help mature pitchers."

Roberts ended up behind Gary Nolan who went eight innings and gave up only one run on five hits. Nolan, dropping to 11-14, struck out five men and walked none.

BEHIND THE ACHE BALL — Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics, safe on an attempted pick-off play at first in game with Senators in Washington, is in pain after twisting his leg trying to escape the tag being made by Don Mincher. Reggie stayed in the game

Squirrel And Duck Season To Be Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife says the outlook is good this year for squirrel and duck hunters. Both seasons open Sept. 10.

The division said the squirrel population may be slightly better than last year's which was considered good, because acorns and nuts are abundant in most of the state's woodlands.

Field reports indicate the teal population is up five per cent over last year and almost eight per cent over the peak population of the late 1950s and 1960s.

Seaver, Mets Stop Gibson, Cardinals, 7-1

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' pitching ace, had taken Bob Gibson and the Law into his own hands.

The smooth-working right-hander became the first pitcher to beat Gibson, the great St. Louis veteran, three times in one season since Vernon Law of Pittsburgh did it in 1959 by taming the Cardinals 7-1 on four hits Wednesday night.

"He wasn't the real Bob Gibson tonight," conceded Seaver. "But, he's still one of the best pitchers in baseball. I don't think I've ever seen anybody work any harder."

Despite Seaver's praise, Gibson has been erratic this season, winning only 13 and losing 12, although pitching the first no-hitter of his illustrious career. And, instead, it has been Seaver who has developed into one of the game's outstanding pitchers.

The victory was his fifth in a row and gave him a 16-8 record for the year. He also lowered his earned run average to 1.92, best in the National League, and struck out seven, increasing his league-leading total to 233.

Meanwhile, San Diego's Dave Roberts, National League runner-up in ERA, fired a five-hitter as the Padres defeated Cincinnati 3-1. Pittsburgh outslugged Philadelphia 10-7; Los Angeles walloped Houston 9-2; San Francisco blanked Atlanta 4-0; and Chicago topped Montreal 5-2 after losing the completion of a suspended game 11-2.

Seaver, the winner of the 1969

Cy Young Award as the National League's outstanding pitcher and a strong candidate again this year, has allowed only four runs in his last 54 innings of work and compiled a glittering 1.14 ERA since the All-Star break.

It was Seaver's 16th complete game and his third against Gibson and the Cardinals. "But I always manage to lose the shutout somewhere along the way," he quipped. "I give up a home run or I do something."

Wednesday, he lost it in the ninth when Ted Sizemore doubled and scored on Joe Torre's single.

But by that time, the Mets were comfortably ahead. They had belted Gibson for 11 hits and six runs in 6 2-3 innings, and added a run off Stan Williams, making his first appearance for St. Louis, in the eighth. Duffy Dyer and Ken Boswell each drove in two Met runs.

Roberts, San Diego's hard-working left-hander, won his 12th game with his second five-hitter in two starts against Cincinnati this season. The only run off him was unearned and came with two out in the ninth.

After Hal McRae opened the Reds' ninth with a double, Roberts retired the next two batters, but Johnny Bench was safe on an error by third baseman Gary Jesteadt and George Foster blooped a run-scoring single.

The hard-luck Roberts, who has lost 14, now has a 1.99 ERA.

Nate Colbert's RBI single in the first inning and Ollie Brown's two-run double in the top of the ninth produced the Padres' runs.

Pittsburgh's Luke Walker also turned in an outstanding pitching effort. He entered the Pirates game against Philadelphia in the fourth inning and checked the Phils on one run and two hits the rest of the way.

"I prefer to start," said Walker, who has been in Manager Danny Murtaugh's doghouse. "But my name has been popping up in the bullpen lately and I don't mind the work." He has won two games in the last three days.

Manny Sanguillen belted a two-run homer for the Pirates, who shelled four Philadelphia pitchers for 13 hits. Ron Stone and Deron Johnson each homered with one on for the Phils.

Los Angeles backed Don Sutton's four-hit, 12-strikeout pitching against Houston with an eight-run uprising in the second inning. Richie Allen's two-run single keyed the big inning in which the Dodgers sent 13 batters to the plate.

John Cumberland, a former American League pitcher, pitched his second shutout for San Francisco, stopping Atlanta on four hits.

The Giants scored twice in the first inning on Tito Fuentes' single, a fielding error by left fielder Ralph Garr, Bobby Bonds' run-producing single, a throwing error by Garr and Willie McCovey's sacrifice fly.

They added two runs in the third on a double by McCovey, Alan Gallagher's RBI single, an error by catcher Earl Williams and Chris Speier's single.

Ferguson Jenkins, the National League's biggest winner, gained his 21st victory for the Cubs with a six-hitter in the regularly scheduled game against Montreal. Jenkins also drove in three runs with two homers, his third and fourth of the season with three innings of two-hit relief. The game was suspended Tuesday with Montreal leading 8-1 after six innings.

Roberts Overcomes Reds With 5-Hitter; Wins 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — San Diego left-hander Dave Roberts faces a new challenge now that he has achieved one of his goals for the 1971 season—dropping his earned run average below 2.00.

"I've been working to get my earned run average under 2.00 and I'd like to keep it there," Roberts said after hurling a five-hitter against the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night and helping San Diego score a 3-1 victory.

The only run off Roberts came in the ninth inning and it was unearned. The complete nine innings without an earned run lowered his ERA to 1.99, and he remains second in the National League among starters in the ERA category.

"You can't dispute the fact

how good the man is when he has pitched 226 innings and has an earned run average under 2.00," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "We had an all right-handed lineup against him and here's a guy who doesn't throw any screwball and still had complete control of the game."

Roberts, 26, sailed through the first eight innings and allowed only one hit in the first, third and sixth innings. He yielded two hits in the ninth inning when the Reds tallied their run with the aid of a throwing error. He struck out five and walked only two.

"There's no question Roberts is a fine pitcher and has all the pitches," Padres Manager Preston Gomez said. "I went out to talk to him in the ninth inning, to slow him down because he's high strung. I wanted to calm him, but I intended to go all the way with him."

The game was Roberts' 11th complete effort of the year and the victory upped his record to 12-14.

"To the best of my recollection, I have been shut out four times this season and have lost three 2-1 decisions," Roberts said. "But being involved in close games this year tends to help mature pitchers."

Roberts ended up behind Gary Nolan who went eight innings and gave up only one run on five hits. Nolan, dropping to 11-14, struck out five men and walked none.

Nicholas Square Housing Development Is Planned

TOWNHOUSE — Contemporary design will be featured in the Nicholas Square Townhouse and apartment development on Nicholas Drive. The total planned community will have a value of $5 million. Construction will start in September.

A new housing development in Circleville will be started this fall on the east side of Nicholas Drive, just north of the high school.

The new community, named Nicholas Square, will be located on a 28-acre site purchased from Dale Ankrom by a group of Columbus-based developers.

A site plan which has been approved by the City Planning and Zoning Commission shows that 43 single-family homes and 156 apartments and townhouses will be constructed on the property.

The single-family homes will be in the $25,000 to $40,000 price range and will include ranch, split level and two-story designs. James Deagle, president of Candlelite Homes, indicated that a variety of housing styles and exteriors will be provided. In addition, lots will be sold to other builders and individuals for custom building, providing a desirable balance of architecture for the community.

All lots will have paved streets, curbs and gutters plus city water and sewers. Streets and utilities are to be installed this fall, permitting housing starts this fall or early spring.

Deagle indicated that the first 56 townhouses and apartments will be started in September, with completion in early 1972. The community will include one, two and three bedroom housing featuring basements, carpeting, deluxe kitchens with all appliances, private patios or balconies and community recreational facilities.

Exterior design of the rental community will feature a contemporary mixture of brick and stained wood as designed by Columbus architect Joseph Cavarozzi. Professional landscaping will be added to enhance the development's attractiveness, and two parking spaces will be provided adjacent to each rental unit.

Community recreational features are being designed and will be considered at a coming meeting of the Planning Commission.

Construction financing for the streets and utilities plus the first phase of the apartments has been arranged through Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association of Columbus.

Russell Dawley, Circleville realtor, arranged for the sale of the property and will handle lot sales and rentals. Robert Huffer is local legal counsel for the development.

Deagle indicated that the Circleville area was selected for the group's next development due to its excellent economic base and continued growth in recent years, combined with a current shortage of new middle income housing.

The location of the community was selected with great care after a thorough analysis of available sites in the Circleville area. The Nicholas Square site was selected because of its proximity to the high school and Nicholas elementary school, plus the desirable influence of the successful Garden City residential development across Nicholas Drive.

Approximately six months were required to prepare preliminary plans and achieve necessary rezoning of the property to permit the planned uses. The development is one of the first major tracts to be rezoned under the city's new zoning code enacted in 1970.

In cooperation with city officials, the developers have planned the site so that no driveways will be constructed on Nicholas Drive, to enhance the safety aspect of this important street. In addition, the developers will donate to the city the necessary additional right-of-way for the planned widening of Nicholas Drive. Houses and apartments will face upon Nicholas Drive, but access drives will be from side streets.

Development of Nicholas Square is designed to provide necessary housing for the city's expanding industrial and commercial base, especially the recently completed RCA plant.

Total investment when the community is fully completed is estimated at approximately $5 million, providing an important tax base for the city and school systems.

'Moon Silver' Coin Offer Sparks House Panel Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A private firm's offer of minicoins said to contain silver taken to the moon's surface on a U.S. space flight has been questioned by Chairman Leonor K. Sullivan of the House consumer affairs subcommittee.

The Missouri Democrat said she was told by NASA the metal, involved in a promotion by the private Franklin Mint of Franklin Center, Pa., didn't go to the moon at all. But it did circle the moon in the Apollo 14 command module.

Rep. Sullivan exchanged correspondence with the space agency about the propriety of providing earth-moon transportation for medallions intended for private use.

NASA's response was forwarded to the Federal Trade Commission, she said, with a suggestion it might want to pursue the matter "under the new doctrine of the commission in calling for corrective advertising of misleading or inaccurate claims."

Mrs. Sullivan said she received from the Franklin Mint an invitation to join its Collectors Society, at a cost of $9 for 18 months, and to receive a memento described in an accompanying article as "the first commemorative pieces ever struck by the Franklin Mint from silver that actually landed on the moon."

She quoted the advertising as saying the minicoins were to be struck from a batch of sterling silver into which was to be melted a number of medals carried by the Apollo 14 crew.

Mrs. Sullivan wrote NASA that she had received inquiries as to whether the space agency sanctioned carrying such medals on a nearly half-billion-dollar mission "when every drop of water, morsel of food and equipment ... must be controlled as to weight."

She said NASA replied: "There was a personal arrangement between the crew of Apollo 14 and the Franklin Mint whereby 200 of the coins were carried in the command module, not the lunar lander which went to the moon's surface, and of which 150 were retained by the crew for their personal use."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Humid conditions with numerous showers and thunderstorms made worse by high winds in some regions dominated the nation's weather picture today.

Winds gusting to 50 miles per hour battered portions of Arizona where the National Weather Service reported seeing three funnel clouds Wednesday. A dust storm cut visibility to zero in Phoenix Wednesday night.

Meanwhile large hail pelted Aberdeen, S.D., and nearly an inch of rain fell in a six-hour period at Montgomery, Ala.

Temperatures remained in the 60s and 70s across most of the nation early today with the low of 37 at Houlton, Maine and the high of 90 at Blythe, Calif.
